Firemen, Marines Busy

"OPERATION SANTA CLAUS" is under way in the northern San Mateo County city of Daly City, with the community's fire stations serving as receiving points for toys, bikes and trikes to be distributed to needy children in the area. Firemen George Panellis and John Poulos and Sgt. Robert L. Reyelts and Sgt. James Matheny of San Bruno's U.S. Marine Reserve unit unload truckful of toys at Central Fire Station, Daly City.

'VIGOROUS ATTACK' SEEN

Getting At DC Drug Problem

One speaker after another trooped to the rostrum Monday and explained to the Daly City Council what they found to be most effective in combatting drug abuse in their own backyards.

Everyone from mental health authorities to representatives of the Damien House outlined their methods of operation in the field. Even two former drug addicts — one a hard drug user for the past ten years — told how easy it was to get "hooked" and how difficult the problem of "kicking the habit."

Veteran narcotics agent Vincent Chasten called the Daly City study series "the most vigorous attack (on drug abuse) as I've seen in this state," and encouraged the council and citizens to continue to wage war on teen-age use of drugs.

Despite the appalling drug arrest figures for California published last week, Chasten said he saw "much progress."

But education of children was only part of the war on drugs, according to Chasten.

"If we eliminate the peddler, we eliminate the problem," he explained.

The meeting was the third in a series that was kicked off last October and was considered by far to be the most productive.

First person to speak during the informal study session at city hall was detective Roger Austin, who outlined his department's policy in handling the situation.

Austin said the use of drugs had now reached into the sixth grade in Daly City schools and police were making an all-out effort to educate these children in this prime age group.

"When they reach high school its's too late—the words just roll off their back," Austin said.

An organization which started in the Midwest, and calls itself "Teen Challenge," has recently undertaken to push their program within the Jefferson High School District.

Representing the organization was De Vore Walterman, director of the National Council for Prevention of Drugs Abuse which operates the "Teen Challenge" program.

The group is privately financed and has thus far studied the drug problem in 25 countries. Last year they reached some 25 million students, Walterman said.

Daly City representative to the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) Edward Eastman suggested the city open a new department solely concerned with drugs to work with juveniles.

"This may be one way we can really get to it (the problem)," Eastman said.

Each of the dozen speakers had varying ideas on the subject.

One of the final speakers was Jefferson High School District official Floyd Gonella, former member of the County Drug Advisory Group, who disagreed with the concept that drugs should be battled on a "local level."

The problem will never be solved, according to Gonella, unless it is established on a county-wide level with a full-time county coordinator.

Gonella hit out at some so-called "fulltime" members of commissions and boards involved in programs that donate far less than "fulltime" to their responsibilities after being appointed.

He felt that better dividends would result if the problem was placed at a county level, a full-time commission similar to the county Human Relations Commission was set up, and agencies throughout the county pooled their resources.

"You don't have to be a user to know and understand the problem," Gonella said. "We've talked this area to death during the past five years .... we need action on a county level."

Devil's Slide Rescue Costs Are Sought

(Related Stories, Page 5)

The cost of rescuing a teenage housewife from the face of Devil's Slide Sunday will be brought to the judge's attention when she, her husband and brother-in-law come into court, Assistant Sheriff Eugene E. Stewart said yesterday.

Stewart said he has asked the Pacifica Fire Department to compute the cost of rescuing Mrs. Ida Marie Holzclaw, 15, of Suisun, so that the figure can be reported to the judge.

After firemen pulled Mrs. Holtzclaw to safety, she was cited by Deputy Sheriff John Hammarstram for violation of the county ordinance which specifically forbids climbing on the treacherous coastal cliff. Mrs. Holzclaw's husband, Donald, 21, and his brother, Eddie, 16, were cited by Highway Patrolman Donald Crowther.

Although Devil's Slide is in unincorporated area and under the jurisdiction of the Sheriff's Office, rescue operations are handled by the Pacifica Fire Department, because it has special equipment and is closest to the scene.

"We pay Pacifica an hourly rate for use of their men and equipment," Stewart said. "It is quite expensive. We want to be sure the court is aware of the cost."

ROUTE 380 WORK TO CONTINUE

Minds of San Bruno councilmen were set at ease Monday night when they were informed that construction of Interstate 380 through the city would be continuous until complete.

Councilman Karney Barberian read excerpts from a letter initiated by Alan S. Hart, District 4 engineer of the State Highway Department.

Hart said that state has budgeted $4,000 to begin construction of Interstate 380 from Interstate 280 to State Highway 82 (El Camino Real). The project is expected to start in or about July of 1970.

Once construction has started, assured Hart, procedures are geared to having construction continue east to Bayshore until the interstate is complete.

Pacific Heights Swim Pool Is Taking Shape

That proposed county 50-meter swimming pool in the Pacific Heights section of San Bruno may be taking shape yet.

Based on seven recommendations of the park and recreation commissioners, the councilmen Monday night agreed to initiate negotiations with the county board of supervisors and the board of the San Mateo Junior College District.

The commissioners said they felt the cooperation of the city, county and junior college district would "result in a tremendous saving of taxpayer money."

It would also, they felt, afford an "acceleration of the provision of swim opportunity to the college, to the North County resident and San Bruno resident in the northwest area of the city who is not now adequately served by present facilities."

The reasons listed by the commissioners were:

1. Urgent need of North County residents for indoor recreation facilities.
2. The accessibility of the Pacific Heights to all North County residents through the proposed North County freeway network.
3. Failure of the junior college district bond issues to provide funds for the proposed Skyline College swim pool.
4. The proximity of Pacific Heights to the Skyline College campus makes a facility there easily accessible for college student programs.
5. Availability of college parking facilities nearby to Pacific Heights enhances that location for general public use.
6. Those junior college district funds originally contemplated to defray costs of maintenance and operation of the proposed Skyline College pool could be applied toward the operation of this Pacific Heights indoor 50-meter pool.
7. Similarly contemplated county funds for the maintenance and operation of the planned county 50-meter pool could be applied to the Pacific Heights swim center.

The commissioners also, "in order to stimulate action" on their proposal, urged the councilmen to provide Pacific Heights land at no cost to the county for the pool.

Carlos Lopez Murder Case Nearing Jury

(Accounts of the Trial On Pages 25, 26 and 27)

The Carlos Lopez murder case was scheduled to be submitted to the jury Tuesday.

Deputy District Attorney James L. Browning told the jury of eight men and four women Monday that Lopez, 26, should be convicted of first-degree murder in the June 20 killing of Christian Pedersen, 92-year-old retired Pacifica sea captain, even if the jury believes that Lopez did not strike the fatal blows.

The prosecutor argued that Lopez and 19-year-old Clarence Galindo, scheduled to stand trial January 5, are "equally guilty" on the theory that they were acting together when they entered the Pedersen home following their escape from San Francisco County Jail near San Bruno.

"It needn't concern us to a great extent who actually struck the fatal blows," Browning said.

Lopez told the jury that when Galindo decided to break into the house to get food, money and a change of clothes, he argued against it and started to leave the scene. Lopez said he changed his mind when he heard a woman scream and rushed into the house to save the occupants. The defendant told the jury he found Pedersen beaten unconscious in bed and Galindo standing over Mrs. May

Suspension Is Rescinded

Attorney Charles R. Garry and police officer William Moeller were informed by the Daly City council during its regular meeting Monday night that it was their unanimous decision to rescind the officer's two-day suspension of last summer in accordance with recommendations of the Personnel Board.

Moeller had been suspended for allegedly failing to answer a minor complaint call. The suspension was replaced with an official reprimand.

Resolution

Pacifica Wants S.F. Jail Improved

Pacifica Monday expressed "concern" over the San Francisco County Jail between Pacifica and San Bruno in its present condition and called for "drastic" and "immediate" improvement.

The Pacifica city council approved a resolution that requests of San Francisco "answers as to what affirmative steps have been taken to implement suggestions . . . by the San Francisco Committee on Crime in its report on the deficiences of said facility."

Citing information there have been 16 escapes by inmates of the facility, the resolution declared the coastal community's concern that further escapes will result — "unless drastic and immediate changes are forthwith made."

Escapees from the San Francisco facility are charged with the murder of an elderly Pacifica man last year, and one of them currently is being tried on murder charges in Redwood City.

San Francisco Sheriff Matthew Carberry has been under almost continuous fire by communities that surround his jail since the retired sea captain was killed and his elderly wife severely beaten by intruders.

Residents immediately adjacent to the jail had expressed concern even before the tragedy.

Bruno Duplexes

Variance Request Back To Planners

A funny thing happened during Monday night's San Bruno city council session.

The councilmen upheld a planning commission decision to deny a variance allowing a duplex on a vacant lot.

Then they turned around and sent the matter back to the commissioners for another look at the request.

George H. Lerios, of 228 San Anselmo Avenue, had requested a variance to build a duplex at 961 Easton Avenue.

Lerios said he had sold his home and purchased the lot. His intention is to build a duplex on a 25-foot lot for himself and his son, now in Vietnam.

The area he intends to build in contains seven other duplexes, plus a triplex. Lerios said he has made extensive checks and found that this 25-foot lot is the only remaining individually owned 25-foot lot in the city. Other similar sized lots are the property of nearby homeowners. "One stinking lot," said Lerios. "I don't know why there should be such a fuss over it."

There apparently is no problem of complaining neighbors either. Four letters from nearby residents approved of Lerios' requested variance. All indicated thzt the lot as it now stands is an "eyesore."

The planning commissioners were vague in their denial of the request. They based it on routine city ordinance language.

Reasons they gave for the denial were that no exceptional and extradordinary circumstances and conditions apply to the land.

Also that it was not shown that the desired duplex is necessary for the preservation and enjoyment of substantial property rights of the petitioner.

And that the granting of the variance would materially affect adversely the health or safety of persons residing or working in the neighborhood, and it would be detrimental to the public.

Further that city codes do not apply to the land, building or use for which the variance is sought.

During the pre-council session, Councilman George Corey attempted to point up that the planning commission denial was vaguely presented. He felt Lerios had presented a fair case.

Developers' Use Permit Bid Delayed

South San Francisco planning commissioners Monday night continued until the January 26 meeting a written request of Caesar-Callan Homes, Inc., to delete an amendment of use permit requirements within a city ordinance that restricts commercial zoning.

City Attorney John Noonan will study the request, made by the Caesar-Callan attorney, Edward J. Wynne, Jr.

Dan Pass, city planner, has recommended denial of the request, saying the commissioners must guage the commercial development to the needs of residents.

Pass further stated that the guidelines "provide a shield against permissive commercial overzoning and premature commercial development."

He said that deletion of the section would limit the commission's control over the timing of the development of sections of Westborough and would reduce the high level of city planning.

In other businss, the commissioners approved two final maps in the newly developing Westborough-West Park section of the city.

One represents a subdivision of 8.3705 acres at the northeast corner of Greendale Drive and Parker Way into 77 lots. The other involves 7.8368 acres at the northeast corner of Galway Drive and Westborough Boulevard into 72 lots.

The commissioners also accepted the withdrawal of three Cabot, Cabot and Forbes tentative parcel maps.

Negotiating Unit Approves Policy

The Jefferson Union High School District's Negotiating Council Monday approved a new teacher assignment and transfer policy, subject to ratification to the membership of teacher-administrator groups and the board of trustees.

Mary Ann Holden, negotiating council chairman, said the final agreement "encompasses both the voluntary and involuntary aspects of teacher transfers and offers both latitude to the district and protection for the teacher."

She did not elaborate in a statement issued late Monday.

Both teacher organizations — the American Federation of Teachers and the CTA unit (Jefferson Union High School District Teachers' Association) — had been jousting with the district over transfers for a number of weeks.

Their concern and ultimate joint effort to obtain an updated policy was the result of recent shifts of half a dozen teachers by Supt. Edward Morgan, to Serramonte High School.

Morgan said the transfers were authorized under standing board of trustee policy and were necessary because student-teacher ratios were exceeded at most schools, but below the ratio at Serramonte.

Morgan explained that the anticipated number of students fell below projections this year, except at Serramonte.

An Alternate Island Plan In South S.F.

An alternate plan was discussed Tuesday morning in South San Francisco concerning the problem of a traffic island in the widening and improvement of South Airport Boulevard.

Property owners along the street met with city staff at the direction of the councilmen. Property owners had been less than enthusiastic about the proposed traffic island that would hinder left turns into their places of business.

The suggested revised plan is to use paint, instead of concrete, to set up the traffic island. The paint, however would be used for the center portion of the island.

According to reports, most property owners seemed content with the revised plan allowing left turns over the painted island.

The matter again will have to go before the city councilmen.

Postmaster Elected San Bruno Chamber President

A man who says he does business with everyone, San Bruno Postmaster Don Risso, has been elected president of the Chamber of Commerce for 1970.

Risso, also a former councilman and mayor of the city, has the unique distinction of being the chamber's first full-time manager, back in 1947.

"He has also been a private businessman," said chamber manager Kit Menkin. "So he knows the business community quite well personally, too."

Elected vice president for the coming year was Norm Merkel. "This man definitely will bring organizational skills into the chamber," said Menkin of the Federal Aviation Agency control tower chief at San Francisco International Airport.

Treasurer will be Robert Wilson, manager of Crocker Citizens. "Wilson will insure us good relations with the Tanforan Center," said Menkin. The San Bruno-located bank plans to move into the new shopping center.

Although scheduled for the first part of January, no definite date has been set for the chamber's installation dinner dance.

Carlos Lopez Murder Trial Expected To Go To Jury

Pedersen, 74, pounding on her head with a pair of shears.

Browning labeled Lopez' story about going into the house only to aid the occupants "illogical and somewhat preposterous."

George P. Eshoo, Lopez' court-appointed lawyer, argues the defense case before the jury today, after which Browning was to be given a chance to make a rebuttal statement. Superior Judge Allison M. Rouse said he intended to instruct the jury on the law and send it out to deliberate before day's end.

Lopez is being tried on four felony counts, including robassault in addition to the murder charge. Browning told the jury that he should be convicted of first-degree crimes on all counts. All told, there are 17 possible verdicts, considering degrees and "lesser included" offenses.

Browning argued to the jury that this is a proper case for application of the "felony murder" rule, that is, where death occurs during the commission of a felony, such as robbery and burglary, the perpetrator is guilty of first-degree murder.

He called the killing of Pedersen "totally unnecessary." Citing the victim's age, Browning said, "Captain Pedersen couldn't have done anything about those escapees."

"The defendant and Galindo could have gotten everything they needed without harming Captain or Mrs. Pedersen," the prosecutor declared.

In exploring possible ways the incidents at the Pedersen home could have occurred, Browning told the jurors that, if they believe Lopez' story, they still should convict him of second-degree murder. He explained that, even if Lopez did not have an intent to commit robbery or burglary when he went into the house, he was still in the process of committing a felony — escape.

The prosecutor argued that Lopez could be convicted of aggravated assault even if the jury believes that Calindo and not Lopez administered the beatings, on the theory that they were co-principals.

Browining told the jury that "there shouldn't be the remotest doubt that Lopez is guilty of armed robbery." He pointed out that the defendant admitted taking food, clothing, a knife and money from the Pedersen home.

"It is first-degree robbery," Browning said, "if it is perpetrated by two or more persons, any one of whom is armed."

The evidence was that Galindo armed himself with the shears before smashing his way into the house.

A Downtown Mini-Park Dedicated In San Bruno

In this era of mini-this and mini-that, there is now a mini-park in downtown San Bruno.

City officials gathered at 11 a.m. Friday, at 475 San Mateo Avenue to officially dedicate the park.

Among those present were Mayor Neil Christal, Harold H. Highsmith, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Jim Faverman, president of the chamber's merchants' division; Kit Menkin, chamber manager, and James Anderson, vice president of Dollar Savings and Loan.

It is through the efforts, and $8,000 in cash, of the savings and loan company that the park is a reality.

Anderson said the park is part of a major improvement program begun after the affiliation of Dollar with Citizens' Federal Savings and Loan in San Francisco in July.

Improvement at San Bruno also included painting and redecorating inside and outside the office.

Westmoor's Aid Project Is Biafra

Westmoor's Student Congress has accepted Biafra as its aid project. Decision was reached on Wednesday, November 26 at the Student Congress meeting.

The Daly City students have been awaiting results for several weeks. Originally, a list of 19 suggested projects was presented. Representatives were to poll classes, but less than ten ballots were received.

The Executive Board decided a project was needed to start fund-raising and voted in the San Mateo Rehabilitation Center. Student Congress vetoed that decision by a two-third minority at the following meeting.

With no project and settlement seemingly far off, the Executive Board narrowed the choices to Biafra, San Mateo Rehabilitation Center and the Grape Boycott.

Student Congress again polled students. Biafra ran in the lead, but did not have the necessary majority.

Executive Board members then went and polled classes again.

These results differed from those of the representational vote.

The Student Congress was then asked to represent their classes fairly and votes were taken on several motions including the San Mateo Rehabilitation Center, Grape Boycott, Biafra, splitting the money between the three projects or keeping the money to improve Westmoor.

By November, Westmoor still had no project. Then representatives voted again and Biafra became the school project.

Gunmen Rob Daly City Food Store

Three gunmen held up the Cala Food Store on Mission Street in Daly City Sunday and fled with an undetermined amount of cash.

A store clerk told police the trio walked into the store shortly before 10 p.m., brandished a small automatic pistol and ran out of the nearly deserted store after grabbing the money from a checkout counter.

One of the men was "armed" with what appeared to be a plastic toy gun, police said.

Coast Loses White Field Tax Benefit

A special 8 p.m. meeting last night at the Pacifica City Hall was called to discuss the future of White Field as a municipally used facility.

The property belongs to the Pillar of Fire Church, but has been used for a number of years by the city under an arrangement where the city had agreed to pay ad valorem taxes.

It was explained that the city had obtained exemption from taxes until this year.

Real estate man George Edsell said the taxes now amount to $3,754 annually, with a six-month installment due at 5 p.m. Wednesday.

After considerable discussion, the city voted to pay the current installment of $1,877.

It was November 3 when the church first learned there would be taxation on the field, as well as Pillar of Fire Church and Alma Heights Academy lands.

Edsell added, however, that the assessor's office claims to have sent notification last spring to the city. The city manager, Bill Masonheimer, said he didn't recall any such notification.

Forty per cent of the White Field property was declared tax exempt in the past, it was pointed out. The city also leases other land from the church.

Exemptions on the church-used property has not been changed, it was asserted.

The Tuesday meeting was to help determine, as Mayor Nick Gust explained, "What it's going to cost to keep the field."

FBI Agents Arrest S.S.F. Residents

Five persons, including three from South San Francisco, have been arrested by the FBI on charges of possessing stolen interstate property, including television sets and stereos.

According to Charles W. Bates, San Francisco FBI agent-in-charge, the suspects are:

Erwin Brown, 39, 2330 Humboldt, El Cerrito; James Mazza, 18, and Betty Jane Mazza, of 113 Alta Mesa, South San Francisco; David Ricci, 18, 201 Arroyo, South San Francisco, and James Thompkins, 30, of 2457 Sixty-third Avenue, Oakland.

Bates said the male suspects were arrested at Hickey and Firecrest, a Pacifica residential area, at 11:25 p.m., Dec. 2.

Federal complaints filed before U.S. Commissioner Richard S. Goldsmith in San Francisco allege they possessed various television sets and stereos.

Mrs. Mazza, mother of three children, was arrested Wednesday after other allegedly stolen interstate property was found in her home, the FBI spokesman said.

Property valued at about $5,000 was recovered, it was reported.

The FBI explained that Brown and Thompkins, East Bay teamsters, were arrested by alleged possession of the various items while Mazza and Ricci assertedly were assisting the teamsters in the delivery of the property to an alleged buyer.

Assisting the FBI agents were Southern Pacific Company special agents and members of the Pacifica and South San Francisco Police Departments.

Two vehicles were involved, according to authorities — a 1966 model pickup, said to be owned by Thompkins, and a 1964 station wagon, registered to Mrs. Mazza.

San Bruno Report Notes Building Gain

San Bruno's monthly building report for November shows the 11-month total $6,233,668 higher than the same period for 1968.

The main reason for this upsurge is construction of the Tanforan Shopping Center. A building permit valued at $3,750,000 is the most recent issued. It is for the shell of the mall area. An earlier permit, for the foundation work, was valued at $83,000.

The mall will connect the two major department stores, Sears and Penney's. Separate permits will be issued later for each store's construction.

Aside from the new commercial construction, there was $38,891 in residential alterations diring the month of November this year as opposed to a $54,741 valuation last November.

Commercial alterations were down this November from the same month in 1968; $2,770 this year compared with $8,085 last November.

There were no new apartment permits issued during the month. Last, November there were two, valued at $86,000.

'PEP PILL' RAID IN DALY CITY

A Daly City physician's offices were raided by Federal narcotics agents last week, and more than 1.25 million "pep pills" confiscated. No arrests were made.

It was described as one of the largest such raids in recent years in the Bay Area.

The raid was directed at the Broadmoor Shopping Center offices of Dr. George A. Biedermann, 51, by chief Federal Narcotics Agent Daniel J. Aderio.

Police said the physician's office had been under surveillance for the past two weeks.

According to Aderio, Dr. Biedermann, whose practice mainly concerns persons with obesity problems, was not keeping accurate records on the amount of amphetamines he was dispensing to patients.

Aderio questioned accounting of the pills — which the doctor uses in treating obesity cases— but did not bring charges against the physician.

Dr. Biedermann's practice was described as "really successful" and the doctor dispensed large quantities of pills.

GOP Eyes Ryan Post

A movement is under way today in the North County to draft County Human Relations Commission Chairman Frank Spadarella as Republican representative for the 27th Assembly District seat now held by Leo J. Ryan.

James V. Grealish, who headed Mrs. Shirley Temple Black's bid for Congress two years ago, announced December he was heading the "draft Spadarella" campaign and has already sent out scores of letters to other prominent Republicans urging their support.

The fact that Spadarella was a likely candidate to jump into the political arena against Ryan has been circulating for the past several months, however, it wasn't until recent weeks that serious consideration had been given to him by fellow Republicans.

Asked about the movement, Spadarella said he was "flattered" and would probably accept the draft "if indications are that I am needed."

"I have great respect for Jim Grealish and his political abilities .... the movement flatters me," Spadarella said.

Spadarella skyrocketed to prominence in his party almost overnight, although he "worked" for the party for many years.

It wasn't until his appointment to the County Human Relations Commission some two years ago that his name became familiar throughout the county.

The restaurateur was picked to head the San Mateo County fund-raising dinner for Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert Finch two months ago and is currently an alternate on the County Republican Central Committee.

A successful Daly City businessman for the past 20 years Spadarella has been active in the Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce (currently a director) and with the Restaurant Association.

Observers point out that if Spadarella accepts a draft he will have a tough uphill battle against Ryan. Registered Democrats in the North County alone outnumber registered Republicans almost 3-1 (61,440 to 29,476).

"Our task of regaining the 27th Assembly District for the Republican Party will not be an easy one," Grealish said, "but neither is it an impossible one."

Hypnotic Tests For Bruno Suspect

Permission has been granted by Superior Court for Robert D. Nielson Jr., accused of the murder of a 3-year-old San Bruno girl, to undergo hypnotic and sodium pentothold examination by a psychiatrist.

Motion for the examination was made by Nielson's attorney, Harlan Veal, on the basis that it would be for his and the defendant's use. Veal indicated, however, that there could be a motion when Nielson comes to trial to have findings for the examination possibly introduced as evidence.

Permission for the examination was given by Superior Judge Conrod B. Reisch after Deputy District Attorney William W. Larsen said he knew of no authority to stymie the request.

Nielson is scheduled to go to trial January 12 on a charge of murdering Yvonne Santino, who was found dead in the bathtub at the home of her mother, Mrs. Paulette Santino, last July 1. Nielson and Mrs. Santino were married a week later.

$190,662 To Mateo Colleges

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has made grants totalling $190,662 to the three Junior Colleges in San Mateo County, Congressman Pete McCloskey announced.

These funds are to help pay the salaries to students in the work-study program on the three campuses; 80 per cent of the total cost is paid by the Federal government

Woodworkers Aid Santa In San Bruno

By BOB PETERSON

It's known that Santa's elves work year-round to supply toys for good little girls and boys.

So do members of the San Bruno Woodworkers' Club.

This group of approximately 20 men presently have their handiwork on display at the office of Pacific Gas and Electric, 498 San Mateo Avenue, in San Bruno.

Spence Jenkins, of 737 Easton Avenue, the club's publicity man, says the group gets together once a month at each member's home to help one another on individual projects.

"The toys are made mostly of wood," said Jenkins, "and we donate the items to charitable organizations who in turn see that they are given to needy children."

The club has been in existence for approximately 15 years, and consists, as Jenkins says, "of a bunch of fellows who like to work with wood."

Jenkins, who has been a club member for two years, added that he saw the toys displayed in the PG&E window, was interested, talked to a friend who was a member of the group, and soon became a member himself.

"You might say that many of the members are grandfathers," said Jenkins. "But we have those who aren't, too. And we're always happy to welcome anyone who's interested." Many members, incidentally, are from Millbrae.

Each member generally makes from four to six toys during the year. Jenkins said he puts in about four hours work on each article he has made.

The items consist of anything from a folding stool, which Jenkins made this year, to pull toys such as dogs, carts and horses. The toys usually are geared for the youngster aged from three to five years.

D.C. Mother Saves Kids, Calls Help

Discovering a fire in her kitchen at 11 p.m. Sunday Mrs. Pearl Prater of Daly City awakened her two small children, led them to safety, then called firemen.

Battalion Chief Wayne Alexander estimating damage to the flat-roofed, three-bedroom house at 799 East Market Street at $3,000, said the fire might have started near the hood above the kitchen stove.

Mrs. Prater was in another room and the children were asleep when she smelled smoke.

She went to the kitchen to investigate, located the fire, woke up the children and saw that they were outside. Then she called the fire department, using a hallway telephone with a 25-foot cord which she pulled outside the front door.

Alexander, who declined to make an estimate of damage to contents, described the blaze as "stubborn." It spread into the low attic of the structure and firemen had to rip out cabinets to reach it.

The kitchen was "nearly demolished," Alexander said.

How About Calling The Police?

Why is it the taxpayer complains when he receives his school tax statement but fails to notify the police when he knows vandalism is in progress?

"You probably don't consider this big news," said a San Bruno police sergeant. "But it really gets to me."

The sergeant was referring to a complaint by the South San Francisco School District of vandalism of the Monte Verde School on Sunday.

There were 12 windows broken by rocks being thrown through them. Two rooms had been entered. Chairs, two copying machines and a typewriter were knocked onto the floor.

"We know people heard this activity going on," said the sergeant. "But no one gave us a call. Don't they realize this is going to cost taxpayers a few bucks? The money comes out of their pocket."

Maybe what the seargeant is saying is that the taxpayer could lower his taxes if he would get off his tax statement?

Devil's Slide Claims Another Life

PACIFICA Fire Captain Ken Donahue boosts basket containing body as he approaches crest of Devil's Slide cliff Wednesday. Donahue 20 minutes earlier had been lowered some 300 feet down the shaley, steep cliff to bring up body of accident victim. (Post Photos by Starr)

GARY STOFAN, a Pacifica fire department rescue team member, went all 800 feet down to the beach at Devil's Slide to ascertain there were no other victims in Wednesday's accident. On the way down he found papers and clothing of victim scattered over the sheer cliffside. Stofan is pictured at the end of 400-foot length of rope that had been knotted to 415-foot-long cable attached to winch on fire rescue rig. Pacifica unit was at scene four hours.

Pescadero Man Dies As Car Careens Off Road

An accident victim whose body was found on a slope of Devil's Slide December 3 has been identified as Lucien LaRose, 47, of Pescadero.

Coroner Paul B. Jensen said the identification was made by the victim's brother, Thomas LaRose of Fremont.

Highway Patrolman Fred Girdler said LaRose was apparently driving southbound on Cabrillo Highway some time during the previous night when his 1970-model car, going too fast to make a curve, shot off the road, crashed through a guardrail and hurtled down the 800-foot cliff, landing upside down on the beach. LaRose was thrown out and his body was found 300 feet below the roadway.

Girdler said he discovered the accident when he stopped at Devil's Slide at 10 a.m. to make a routine check. A Pacifica fireman who was lowered to the body discovered what appeared to be a bullet hole in the forehead but later inspection determined that it was an injury suffered in the fall.

Coroner Paul B. Jensen said LaRose, who lived in an apartment over Ballard's Store in Pescadero, was a native of Seychettes, an African island

Woman Falls At Slide, She, Two Others Cited

A slightly built 15-year-old Suisun housewife escaped with only scratches and bruises when she fell some 150 feet down the north end of sheer Devil's Slide Sunday.

The victim, Ida Holtzclaw, her husband David and his brother Edward Holtzclaw were cited by the CHP for climbing in the area, according to the Pacifica Fire Department.

As in almost every incident at Devil's Slide, the Pacifica rescue squad was instrumental in getting Mrs. Holtzclaw from her precarious perch, about 600 feet above the ocean.

The young woman started to descend the shaly slide when her husband and brother-in-law had failed to return to their car an hour after leaving on a climbing adventure themselves.

She had just begun the descent when she lost her footing in loose shale and fell 150 feet.

"She was lucky," a fireman said.

Mrs. Holtzclaw, after being hauled to safety by the Pacificans, told her rescuers that the two men still were in the slide area somewhere.

The firemen found them making their way, slowly, back to the top. They waited.

And so did the CHP officer who spotted Mrs. Holtzclaw clinging to the side of the cliff. He ticketed them all for climbing in an area where climbing is prohibited by law.

Motorcyclist Killed

Donald E. Lueder, 42-year-old San Francisco photographer, was killed Saturday afternoon when he fell from his motorcycle on Radio Road atop San Bruno Mountain.

Witnesses told Highway Patrolman L. F. Rollin that Lueder was westbound on the narrow, winding road at about 15 to 20 miles an hour when he leaned to the left, either to reach something in a pants pocket or boot or to adjust the motor.

Lueder, witnesses said, lost balance and fell to the pavement.

He was dead on arrival at Mary's Help Hospital.

Silvery Tersini, 73, of San Jose, was dead on arrival at County General Hospital just after midnight Sunday following an auto crash on Bayshore Freeway in San Carlos.

Highway Patrolman L. A. Caburro said Tersini may have suffered a heart attack.

Witnesses told the officer that Tersini was driving southbound when his sedan suddenly veered across the traffic lanes and crashed into two boulders beside the road.

Pet Hospital Is Damaged

Pacifica authorities said a fish tank heater possibly caused the fire that caused an estimated $500 damage to a pet hospital Sunday.

The 5:10 blaze caused ceiling and smoke damage throughout, a fire department spokesman explained.

WHY LEATHER?

Some quotable quotes from an interview with Mr. Monroe Jang, owner of the Lady J. specialist in leather and fur fashions.

"Every woman's wardrobe to be complete must include leather."

"Leather garment with proper care improves with age."

"In today's market leather is a good buy — it has gone up in price, but relatively less than other fashions."

"To give leather is to give a gift of lasting value."

"The trend to leather represents a reaction away from artificiality."

"Like natural woods, leather is comforting to have around."

"Will it go out of style? You must be kidding — the skins of animals were the first things man put on his back! Could it be the last?"

"Properly put together, a leather garment is not only a thing of beauty to behold — it appeals as well to one's sense of touch and smell."

"Although one's initial investment is slightly higher, it is less expensive over the years — a leather coat, for instance, will stay in a woman's wardrobe for ten years, instead of one to three years."

"Yes, it's true. We at Lady J do have the largest collection of women's leather garments in the Bay Area."

"There is a vast difference in the quality of leather and in the way leather garments are put together. Like in most things, you get what you pay for."

"New methods of tannings and finishing have greatly reduced the problem of leather care."

WHY GIVE HER MINK? — When she would prefer leather — It's a lot smarter —

YES, we are going along with the "Peacock revolution" — we have leather for men styled by Oleg Cassini.

Jury Backs Demands For Jail Cleanup

Backing of demands that San Francisco jail west of San Bruno either be made more escape proof or abated as a "nuisance" has been voted by the San Mateo County Grand Jury.

A jury resolution on the subject is scheduled to be considered by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors Tuesday.

The resolution asks the board to propose state legislation to require counties seeking to locate jails outside its boundaries to have the consent of the city or county involved and "pursue present efforts to either have the present San Francisco jail brought up to standard in both construction and operation or to abate it as a public nuisance."

The document notes that the number of escapes has increased annually and quotes Sheriff Matthew Carberry as stating that inmates there are more hardened than the jail was designed for, that he cannot guarantee total security, and that he is given insufficient funds for the jail.

San Francisco citizens, the resolution goes on, "demonstrated their indifference to the problem" by voting down a $900,000 bond issue for jail improvements.

"By the very nature of the problem which involes two counties with their divergent citizenry, supervisors and bond issues, it is extremely difficult to arrive as a solution agreeable to all concerned," the document states.

Crestmoor Hi Students Join Sierra Club

Crestmoor High School is the first high school in the United States to become a member of the Sierra Club.

The school's chapter, with a membership of 96, is gaining in popularity with students because of its diverse activities and conservation campaigns, according to Jim Schwerdt, faculty advisor and founder of the club.

Recently, club members have been active in the Save Our Bay campaign and the Point Reyes Seashore issue.

The club took a field trip to Point Reyes and the town of Bolinas on the weekend of November 22 and 23. More recently, ten people went on a kayak cruise of the Russian River.

Future activities for the club include tree-planting at watershed area off of Skyline College near the Reservoir, a trip to Pentacles National monument, and a picnic on Angel Island.

Members of the club take conservation very seriously, according to Mike Sharkey, chairman. They write letters to Congressmen about conservation issues and devote a good deal of time to school campaigns.

Other officers of the club are Terri AuClair, general secretary-treasurer, Rob Butori, activities secretary, and Dave Sanders, conservation secretary.

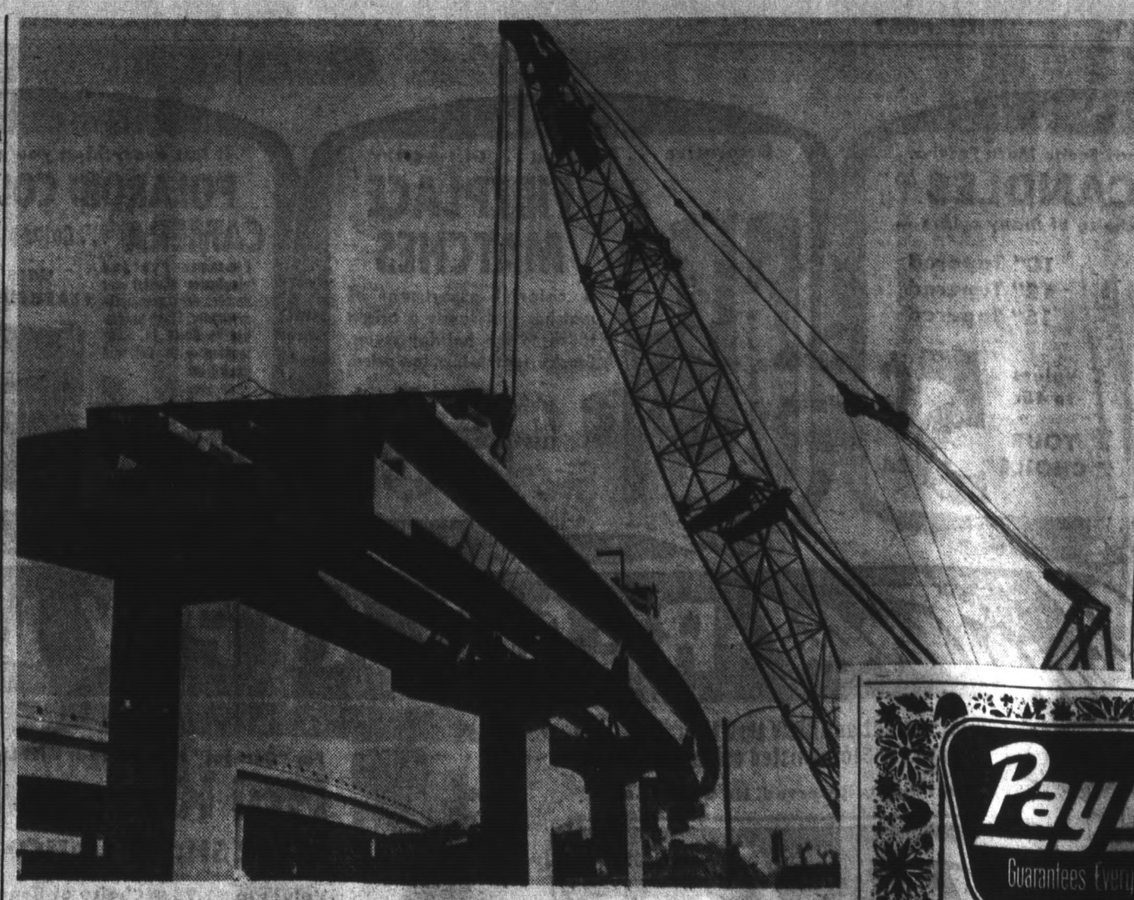
Coast Girls' Yule Spirit

There will be one Pacifica family this year who will sit down to a Christmas dinner they might otherwise not have enjoyed — all through the efforts of Girl Scout Brownie Troop 2057 (Linda Mar).

These 16 girls, helped by their leader, Mrs. William P. Hart Jr., and assistant leader, Mrs. Jr., and assistant leader, Mrs. Robert Macario, are earning money for the food basket by doing extra jobs around their homes. The troop plans to work so hard they will have earned enough money to be able to buy all the "fixings" from soup to nuts

Members of the troop are: Mary Attix, Glynis Bauer, Laurie Broderick, Alicia Gonzales, Lori Guardino, Nadine and Susan Hart, Sharon Lewis, Robin Macario, Heather Melborn, Gina Morello, Stacy McKenzie, Sallie Peterson, Paula and Terri Soldevila and Carrie Taylor.



FINAL PHASES — Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BARTD) tracks sweep closer to Daly City as track beds weighing several tons each were lifted into place starting last week. There has still been no agreement between the district and city concerning the terminus station to be built. (Post Photo)

Ceremonies In S.S.F.

South San Francisco ground was broken in two places at two different times Saturday, heralding two major capital improvement projects.

Officials gathered at Orange Avenue and Tennis Drive at 10 a.m. for groundbreaking of the municipal swimming pool.

Following this ceremony they traveled to the interseetion of Westborough Boulevard and Galway Place for an 11 a.m. ceremony at the Westborough 10-acre park site.

Bruno Burglar Steals Gun

A burglar stole a .32-calibre hand gun from a San Bruno man's house on Sunday after throwing a stone through the kitchen window and entering.

Police said that Ole Jarvis, 65, of 3501 Exeter Drive was away from his house and that the break occurred sometime between 9:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Jeff Meeting Is Switched

The first regular meeting of the Jefferson Elementary School District trustees will be held December 16. It will be the only meeting for the month.

Reason for the switch was that the second regular board meeting in December would fall on December 23, the week of vacation.

In addition, pointed out Supt. Frank Greenwood, several members of the board wish to attend the state conference for California School Board Members and Administrators. The meeting is scheduled from December 6 through 10 in San Francisco.

It has been the practice of the district in the past to have only one meeting in December, too.

Chamber Installation Is Scheduled

No general membership meeting is scheduled for the month of December for the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

However, January and the new year promises to disclose an interesting meeting. January 30 will be the installation dinner for new officers for 1970. It will be held at the California Golf Club.

Seven names have been submitted as nominees for the Board of Directors. They are Bob Fontana, Milt Bronstein, Vince Mager, John Morgan, Remi Muyllaert, George Stagnaro and Doug Wigton.

Awards From Exchange Club

Sue Marcus and George Godoy, both juniors at Serramonte High School, (George is class president), received awards from Daly City's Exchange Club at a luncheon at the Flaming Pit restaurant in Serramonte Shopping Center November 20.

The awards were for accomplishment in recognition of outstanding qualities of leadership, which was in reference to the research Sue has been performing for student body card discounts, and George's involvement with "Operation Help," a plan for helping student drug users.

George and Sue were nominated by their teachers to receive the award.

During the past month, guest speakers have been addressing Serramonte students, usually in physical education classes, concerning drugs.

Speakers from Synanon, Damien House, and the Haight Ashbury Medical Clinic are among the lecturers who discussed drugs, their effects — the how's and what's.

Speakers also related their drug experiences to their audiences.

Out of these presentations, the administration and teachers hope to rid the campus of drugs, and enlighten students to the seriousness of drug use, a student spokesman for the school said.

IT'S COMING DOWN to the period of desperation for holiday shoppers and the decline in social activities is a good indicator of just how hectic most households become this time of year.

Despite all the hustle and bustle members of the Sweet Adelines in Pacifica have managed to keep rehearsal schedules and they will present a program of holiday music for the members of the Altar Rosary Sodality of the Church of the Good Shepherd in Pacifica.

According to Mrs. Stan Prowse, publicity chairman for the sodality, the marmonious ladies will deliver a bevy of carols at the annual Altar-Rosary Sodality Christmas party this evening in the parish hall.

In addition to the music, slated to begin at 8 p.m., members will be exchanging gifts and enjoying a bountiful buffet. Donations of canned goods for the needy of the parish will be left under the Christmas tree by those attending.

Mrs. Eileen Ryan and her telephone committee have assembled the makings for the buffet and the members of the decorating committee has worked hard to bring into focus the import of many cherished Christmas traditions, Mrs. Prowse explained.

For those who have some last minute gifts and stocking stuffers to purchase, Mrs. Prowse reports that a bazaar booth will be set up and a selection of gift items offered for sale at the conclusion of the meetings.

A SIZABLE NUMBER of Westlake and Daly City children will be taking part in the annual Lakeside Nursery School Christmas party to be held next Wednesday morning in the social hall of Lakeside Presbyterian Church on Nineteenth Avenue.

Mrs. Gertrude Madrosen and Mrs. Carolyn Lawton, both of Westlake are among the members of the school's faculty busily preparing for the festivities which will involve not only the children but their parents and friends as well in a morning of fun and song which will conclude with refreshments for all.

ST. ANDREW'S PARISH will launch what members hope will become an annual tradition this holiday season when the first St. Andrew's Parish New Year's Party is staged in the Daly City Memorial building.

According to Mrs. James Clifford, co-chairman of the affair, the plans call for a festive celebration on New Year's eve beginning at 9 p.m. and lasting until 2 a.m.

Al Borelli and his band will provide live music for dancing throughout the evening and refreshments will be available. Holiday party favors have been secured and a midnight buffet will be catered.

Other members of the parish committee arranging the details of the party are Mrs. Kathy Luhrs, co-chairman with Mrs. Clifford; Mr. and Mrs. Al Thusen, reservations chairmen and Mrs. Richard Scrimaglia, decorations committee chairman.

Mrs. Clifford reports that the deadline for tickets will be Sunday and persons wishing to make reservations may do so by contacting Mr. or Mrs. Thusen, Plaza 6-1787, or tickets will be available from members of the party committee after each mass Sunday in the corridor outside the multi-purpose room in Daniel Webster Elementary school. Persons wishing to attend are asked to make a $12.50 per person donation.

☆ ☆ ☆

MRS. DORIS FLETCHER, who has been responsible for the delightfully tasteful art exhibits in the Linda Mar branch of the Bank of America has retired from that post to devote her efforts toward handling the job of refreshment chairman for the Art Guild of Pacifica.

IN KEEPING WITH the philosophy that 50 years young is far more cheerful than being 40 years old, the membership roll of the Fifty-Plus Club of Pacifica has continued to grow and president Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan reports that more than a score of new names have been added to the role since September.

Among those recently joining the senior citizens group are Mrs. Else Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wolff, Mrs. Leitha J. Thurston, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomsen, Mrs. Carl W. Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Singer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwerining, Mrs. Esther Stoff, Mrs. Mary Bennett, Mrs. Kathryn Sachs and Mrs. Rose Regan.

Other new members are Mr. and Mrs. Emil Braun, Mrs. Louise Jane Cutler, James L. Gillingham, Mrs. Marjorie Goreczksy, Charlotte Kelly, Mrs. Doris Kendig, Mrs. Rose Laurence and Mrs. Marian Rose.

☆ ☆ ☆

Mrs. Albert Bucci, publicity chairman for the Mercy Guild, reports that Mercy's Mission Belles, the recent fashion show and luncheon sponsored by the guild, was a great success and that the proceeds will be used to purchase educational aids for the school.

Mrs. Vincent Murphy, wife of Daly City's postmaster, was the chairwoman of the event.

The ceremony was followed by a candlelight champagne dinner reception at the South San Francisco Rod and Gun Club given by their children and their spouses, Mrs. Angela Fornesi and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bottini. Among the 200 friends and relatives were grandchildren Jean and Joan Bottini, Raymond Fornesi, Richard Fornesi and great grandchildren Ronnie and Gina Fornesi.

The Bottinis were married on November 9, 1919 at Sts. Peter and Paul Church in San Francisco. They have lived in South San Francisco for 47 years. Since retiring from their jobs in 1956, the Bottinis have become active in social and church organizations.

Terra Nova High Topics

Terra Nova was visited by Officer Tom Severance of the Pacifica Department Thurdey as part of a new program sponsored by the Organization of Student Action to promote better student-police relationships in the community.

Officer Severance answered many questions concerning drugs, loitering, vehicle violations and motorcycle restrictions. He also explained common misconceptions about policemen's attitudes.

The O.S.A. hopes to make this a weekly discussion program.

Terra Nova's senior class is selling full-color, illustrated cookbooks for $3.50. They will make great gifts for Christmas. All proceeds from the cookbook sale will go toward the Senior Ball.

Deborah Jean Levesque To Be Married December 30

Planning a December 30 wedding at the Oakland Temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints are Deborah Jean Levesque and Gayle Snowden.

The engagement was announced at the dinner party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alston L. Levesque of San Bruno. Chip, as the future bridegroom is called, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Snowden of Redwood City.

The bride-elect attended Pleasant Hill High School and the College of San Mateo where her fiance also studied. She now is a student at the Graduate Student University of Utah in Salt Lake City where she is a member of the Young Women's Improvement Association and Alpha Xi Delta.

Deborah is the sister of Steven Ray Levesque of Boise, Idaho, and Mrs. William Park and the granddaughter of Mrs. Susan Trent of Carthage, Mo., and Mrs. Gaston L. Levesque of New Orleans, La.

Chip, a junior at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, was graduated from Sequoia High School. He served a mission for the LDS Church in Texas. The brother of Donald and David Snowden, he is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Snowden of Brock, Neb., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hartel of Salt Lake City.

A reception will follow the ceremony at the Millbrae Latter-Day Saints church at 7 p.m.

D.C. School Ready For Yule Season

The autumn season at Vista Mar closes just as the preparation begins for the Christmas season.

A "pot luck" dinner, held in the multi-purpose room, was attended by Supt. Frank Greenwood, Associate Superintendent and Mrs. Victor Stratton and school board members, as well as 150 parents and children.

The autumn season also brought to a close the 1969-70 membership drive for the P-TA, with the first prize for 100 per cent parent membership going to Mrs. I. Mamber's sixth grade.

The Christmas season will see the Vista Mar Glee Club concert of Christmas carols, the individual classes Christmas offerings, and last but not least, "Santa's Kitchen."

Following the "songfest" there will be a sale of "Christmas goodies," grab bags and surprises. One of these surprises might be a visit from "Old St. Nick" to see the children at Vista Mar at 12:30 p.m. on December 16 in the multi-purpose room.

OUR LADY OF MERCY'S annual Christmas cookie-candy sale — sponsored by the church's Festival Committee — will follow all masses December 14, and Mrs. Raymond Forcina (left) and Mrs. Dario Baciocco display samples of some of the holiday-wrapped, homemade "goodies" to be offered. Mrs. Frank Kelecheva and Mrs. Dell Baumgartner are assisting.

Jefferson P-TA Council To Meet Next Monday

The Jefferson Council of PTA's will meet December 15, at 8 p.m. at 101 Lincoln Avenue.

The district's reading and mathematics curriculumns will be the topics of discussion.

The guest speakers will be Dr. Vinton Stratton, associate superintendent; general curriculum consultant Betty Poplack; and Georgina Nyhan and Ray Parrett, math consultants.

The meeting was requested by the unit PTA presidents and the audience will have an opportunity to ask questions at the end of the meeting.

Riordan Mothers Announce Joint Christmas Party

Mrs. Gil Restani, president of the Riordan Mothers' Guild, following a tradition of many years, has announced that they will be joined by members of the fathers club for their annual Christmas party on December 16 at 8 p.m. in Chaminade Hall of Riordan High School.

With the theme of the evening being fun, food, music and song, the business of both organizations will be put off until the January meeting, at which time plans will be formulated for the annual games luncheon, scheuled for January 14.

'Ray Of Sunshine' At Bedside As Troubadors Begin Visits

A "ray of Christmas sunshine" will be brought to the bedsides of shut-in patients of Laguna Honda Home for the Aged and Little Sisters of the Poor when "The Troubadors" of the St. Francis Heights Dance and Music Guild take them a station wagon loaded with gift boxes during Christmas week.

Additionally, "The Troubadors" will bring along their own Santa Claus (in the person of Walter Misterman, 223 Del Prado Drive, Daly City); a 60-minute live stage performance with a cast of 85 singers and dancers, and their own all-boy orchestra and pianist.

Santa and "The Troubadors" are scheduled at Little Sisters of the Poor on Saturday, December 20 and at Laguna Honda Home on Tuesday, December 23.

The group's annual Yuletide tour begins with a benefit Christmas party for the United Commercial Travelers, Sunday, December 14, at UCT Hall, Twenty-fourth and Noe Street, San Francisco.

On December 17, at 7:30 p.m. "The Troubadors" will perform for girl members of Canon Kip Community House, Eighth and Natoma Streets, San Francisco. Next evening, they will do a repeat performance for the male members of Canon Kip, since the institution's auditorium is unable to seat the combined membership.

The studio's "Our Own Annual Christmas Party" is slated for Friday, December 19, at the St. Francis Heights Dance and Music Guild, 405 Lakeshore Drive, Daly City, when Santa Claus (busy W. Misterman) passes Yuletide gifts to each of the 85 enrolled students.

On December 20, 250 patients at Little Sisters of the Poor will be entertained and presented with Christmas stockings at their "home," Fourth Avenue and Lake, San Francisco.

Then, December 21, families of the members of Photoengravers and Lithographers' Union, L-17, will be entertained by "The Troubadors" at the Union's annual Christmas party taking place at A. P. Giannini High School auditorium, Thirty-ninth Avenue and Ortega, San Francisco.

At 3:30 p.m. when the final curtain falls at the Photoengravers' show, "The Troubadors" hop into waiting cars to be whisked across town to The Verdi Club, where they will perform another Yule show for an annual benefit staged by Verdi members for the under-privileged. Show takes place at Verdi clubrooms, 2424 Mariposa Street, San Francisco.

Final performance of "The Troubadors" in 1969 is to be at Laguna Honda Home in San Francisco, and by far the biggest. In addition to a full hour stage show, the song and dance group bring along more than 500 gift boxes for the elderly patients. The gift boxes are empty shoe boxes which "The Troubadors" individually wrap with colorful Yule paper.

These are filled with homemade cookies and candies baked by mothers of the students. Each box also contains handkerchiefs, nylons, hand lotion, face powder (for women) and hosiery, cigarettes and other useful articles for the men.

In between these activities, "The Troubadors" make regular twice-a-month visits to Letterman Hospital, performing for maimed and sick GI's from the Vietnam war zone.

'SWINGING TROUBADORS' — Nancy Efsaif and Kathie McKay will be among the St. Francis Heights Dance and Music Guild performers making their annual Christmas season rounds to the bedsides of under-privileged, elderly shut-ins.

Clothes Coming In To Westmoor

Bundles of clothes and cartons of canned foods have started to fill the already crowded halls of Westmoor as another Goodwill Industries drive rouses spirit from all four classes.

December 19 at 3 p.m. is the deadline.

Last year the class of '69 won both the clothes and canned goods competition for the third consecutive year. Last year all the classes totaled 22,166 pounds of clothes and 1,436 cans of food.

'Night Riders' In San Bruno See The 'Chancy Job' That The Policemen Have

By BOB PETERSON

"It's a chancy job. It makes a man watchful, and a little lonely."

These oft-repeated words of Matt Dillon, Dodge City marshall, came to my mind while taking part recently in San Bruno's Night Rider program.

Night Riders are interested citizens who join police officers on their routine duties. The consensus among the officers is that the average citizen will have a better idea of what cops go through.

The rides have been taking place on Friday nights since the program was initiated this summer. However, Lt. Fred Freitas has indicated the program may be extended to include Saturday nights also, because of such a backlog of requests from interested residents.

On the Friday night I joined the group, Night Riders included Nick Barbarotto, of 3470 Crestmoor Drive, a self-employed baker; Mrs. Joanne Germano, of 1160 Fairmont Drive, a housewife and mother of three young boys; Jody Rose, of 1330 Williams Avenue, a student at the College of San Mateo; and Mike Carufel, of 1850 Glen Avenue, a student at Serra High School.

First order of business was to get us oriented. We all received a packet containing numerous brochures. Subjects included what to do about obscene, harassing or threatening phone calls; making sure your home is secure; the alarming shortage of policemen; how to burglar-proof your business; knowing the signs of drug use; saving a life through artificial respiration; and showing respect for law enforcement.

You don't have to become a Night Rider of course to obtain any of these brochures that may be of interest to you.

Also in the packet handed to Night Riders was a program evaluation sheet, and a synopsis of what to expect. It seemed especially intriguing when one read that "Tonight you will share with your assigned officer his risks, ideas and decisions."

While absorbing the information on police statistics and operations, plus catching glimpses of a movie titled "Beat Patrol and Observation," I made some observations of my own.

Nick Barbarotto, to me the average over-30 citizen, showed a sincere interest. He sat with a hand on his chin, legs crossed and totally involved, as if settling back to enjoy a television program.

Mrs. Germano appeared tense. But she laughed vigorously as the "suspicious person" in the movie pacing up and down the street turned out to be a henpecked husband waiting for his wife to come out of the supermarket.

Students Mike Carufel and Jody Rose presented the student image. Mike sitting as if absorbing a lecutre by a favorite instructor. Jody, much the same, puts on a pair of glasses for a better look, and also takes a few notes.

Following the movie, and a tour of the police department facilities, we all were assigned to ride with the patrolmen on the beats.

I had the good fortune of being paired off with Officer Paul Esposito and Reserve Officer Jay Parashis. I say good fortune not because of any involvement in any extraordinary crime, nor because Officers Esposito or Parashis are better officers. Rather because it afforded me a chance to witness an everyday occurrence. It told me a lot about police and people.

It was shortly after 9 p.m. when a woman ran an arterial stop sign. Esposito, driving the unit I was in, gave pursuit. The woman, wearing dark glasses, pulled over and got out of the car.

Esposito approached the woman, ticket book in hand. The woman smiled and began a conversation, admitting she saw the sign but ran it because she was going to the airport to pick up her husband.

Esposito continued to write the ticket. Seeing she could not sway the officer, the woman changed her tone. She became quite irate. Even took off her glasses, as if to get a better look at this impudent officer. She jumped up and down on the street. The cliche-ridden words flowed freely now. "Why stop me. Why don't you go out and get the crooks." She retreated to the confines of her car and sulked.

Compleing the ticket, Esposito requested the lady's signature. She looked up at the officer saying, "Now I know why people call you pigs. You are pigs." Esposito smiled. He thanked the lady for her signature, and watched her drive away.

Parashis, standing by as all this took place, shook his head as he got back into the police car. He's a young man who is volunteering his time without pay, as all reserve officers do, in order to prepare himself to become a police officer.

Back at the station, I sat in the briefing room waiting for the other Night Riders to report in. Each, like myself, had witnessed minor law violations.

Barbarotto's comment was that "It was interesting," and it was obvious his interest was aroused. Miss Rose spent most of her evening "talking police science." Carufel, an aspiring police science major himself, was taken by the knowledge of the young officer he rode with.

Mrs. Germano, too, indicated she was impressed with the evening's activities, citing the manners of officer Ken Navarre.

There wasn't what you'd call a "major incident" during the evening. Not that it was needed, or even desired to get across the point that the police have a thankless job.

The hand-drawn cartoon picture of a smiling officer posted on the briefing room bulletin board told me the officers possibly felt this way too.

It read: "Smile . . . The Supreme Court says it's okay."

McCloskey Says South Vietnamese Key To U.S. 'Gamble'

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The success or failure of this country's "gamble" in Vietnam depends on how the South Vietnamese military fights the war, Representative Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey said yesterday.

McCloskey, speaking to an overflow crowd at the San Francisco Commonwealth Club, said he was pessimistic about the outcome.

"No American officer will put his reputation on the line regarding this question," McCloskey said. "We have simply failed to build a South Vietnamese army."

The will to fight is the key factor in determining which side will win the internal conflict, he said.

He explained that what made this nation great was "the common fabric that binds us together."

This "fabric" is the acceptance of judicial law; the ballot box to settle grievances; and the knowledge that we must pay taxes and serve in the armed forces when the country is threatened.

But South Vietnam has been plagued by war for the past 23 years; ruled by a government that inflicts heavy tax burdens on its citizens; uses a "catch - as - catch - can" draft system, and is ruled mostly by absentee landlords.

"The question is: Can we create (U.S. type) institutions in Vietnam?" McCloskey asked.

People who want freedom must have the will to fight, the Korean War hero said — further explaining that in 1964 the Viet Cong stood off South Vietnamese regular troops with 280,000 members. Despite all the killing in recent years the VC still has an estimated 270,000 member force.

And while it was difficult for McCloskey to predict how either side will react in the future, he predicted that North Vietnam will step up the war after American forces withdraw to a point where Communist forces are certain of victory.

This will present the administration with a new crisis: Whether to stand by and watch or re-escalate and again pour money and troops into that country.

"Our days in Vietnam are numbered," he said. "People in the United States are getting tired of this war — the wrong war, being fought in the wrong place at the wrong time."

He said Americans would not continue to support large expenditures of money (so far some $25 billion per year) as they did at the outset of the conflict.

The Congressman ventured to say that the Viet Cong and North Vietnam forces may "bide their time" after U.S. forces withdraw and their will to fight may diminish "unless we again interfere."

On another subject, McCloskey recalled his days as a rifle platoon leader during the Korean conflict and noted the sad truth of war: That there is no way to stop killing civilians — women and children — while killing the enemy.

For more than 30 minutes the freshman Congressman fielded questions from the floor — everything from America's legal and moral rights to be in Vietnam and whether he would seek re-election to his seat next year.

To the latter, he jokingly replied "no."

He tended to support the Nixon administration in its quest to end the war as soon as possible and disagreed with some factions that want to pin the President down to a specific date for complete withdrawal.

Student unrest? "War is a major cause but not the sole reason."

Alleged Vietnam massacre and attempts to keep facts out of the press: "Public has a right to know all the facts. You cannot deny the public their right to know."

Paris peace talks: "Communists are all the same — you can't trust any of them especially when you undercut strength. . ."

SEATO (South East Asia Treaty Organization) not participating in Vietnam: "They are under no legal obligation to go into Vietnam under the present treaty."

A Feature Potpourri

It's FanTASTic!

UNLESS MY EARS ARE FAILING, I thought Daly City Councilman Micheal DeBernardi said it would be "D, D and L in April" at the commissioners' annual bash at the Flaming Pit Restaurant the other p.m. The statement obviously referred to Dennis, DeBernardi and Lycett — the three incumbents coming up for re-election in April. After checking with a scattering of city officials all we can say is FANTASTIC!

EVEN MONEY NOW, and odds later, that there'll be some mighty surprising things happen in the Daly City City Council race lineup between now and the ballot box. Mark these words, RIGHT NOW.

AND SPEAKING OF RACES, trial balloons or no, Frank Spadarella has stepped into the assembly puddle. Little doubt he will come on strong after the First of the Year. Indications are support is strong for the North County Republican — especially within his own party. Doubtful Atty. John Sherman can muster the needed strength to knock over Spadarella.

THAT WAS A NICE dinner Daly City tossed for its many commissioners last week. Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett was in rare form with a roster of jokes that weren't. Muni Judge Charles Becker was heard to moan as Mayor Lycett jumped into one joke (?) after another. Personally, we prefer the jokes to Lycett's rendition of "Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

SICK CALL — Daly City Detective Les Bastedo would have settled for verbal abuse rather than the busted snoot he got while trying to calm down an irate wrestling fan at the Cow Palace the other other day. The unidentified patron was being escorted from the building by the 6-foot 3-inch, 250-pound Bastedo when he spun around and smashed his fist into the officer's face . . . Motorcycle Officer Richard Seguine suffered a sprained ankle when he collided with a car at a San Francisco intersection.

IF IT'S FRIDAY, this must be El Camino Band Day. South San Francisco Mayor Frank Bertucelli has set that day of every week as "El Camino Band Day" and urged all citizens to contribute toward helping the students and their instruments get to Europe for a series of concerts next year.

ANOTHER NEW POSITION — Daly City's overworked Finance Department is now seeking an assistant to Director Bob Hossli. The job pays from $902 to $1,037 per month, along with other fringe benefits. The post was approved by the council last year. He (or she) will work under the direction of Bob Hossli, who functions under the ever-watchful eye of City Treasurer Joseph Lewkowitz. (The latter receives the sum of $400 monthly for his services to the people.)

SOS SOS — One of the greatest programs, one that has moulded youth into productive citizens, is threatened with oblivion unless folks start digging into their purses and pockets. It would be a shame to lose the Police Athletic League (PAL) program after it has proven its worth over the past decade. The Daly City PAL needs — desperately — some $10,000 to continue its basketball and baseball programs for 450 youth from all walks of life in all sections of this city.

But the public has increasingly turned a deaf ear (merchants and civic organizations included) to their requests for funds. No other organization has proven to be so successful in its work with youth.

You'll never hear a PAL participant calling a policeman a "pig" or tearing up schools, sports equipment, etc. Local PAL President David Hansen is pleading for funds. It's all tax deductible and goes to kids from 5 years old (Pee Wee group) up to 18 years old. If you want to help — and now's the time to do it — call Hansen at 992-4500.

AND BECAUSE IT'S the season to be merry, ask yourself "why?" Everyone hasn't got it made. They (the folks that know) expect about 200 busloads of GI's passing through the International Airport USO between the 17-25 of this month.

Al Belotz, through the Daly City Rotary Club, has sent out a call for goodies that can be consumed with coffee, tea and milk. Get out those cookie tins girls and bake! Put 'em in boxes. Also wanted: Volunteers to help dispense the goodies for a couple of hours. Means a lot to the boys, girls.

A Dark Event

If preliminary evidence is true, My Lai is one of the darkest events of our history. The emerging facts will, without doubt have a crushing impact upon many facets of American policies and life.

It is too early to anticipate its full meaning, and no judgment should be made as to individual responsibility, but one feature is deserving of immediate consideration: what effect will this event and its sequels have upon Vietnam policy?

The last 30 days have been important ones for national opinion. On November 3rd, President Nixon discussed his plans for Vietnam. He called for the support of the silent majority, and all available evidence shows that it came to his aid. As the days passed, a new and strong consensus became apparent.

Then a shocking disclosure. On that most typical of American holidays, Thanksgiving, the men from My Lai spoke. The radio that day was like a dirge, with continuing pieces of a horror story coming from around the United States in the form of statements by observers or participants.

So just as the President was solidifying support for his announced program, an upsetting problem developed. The newly established consensus is confronted with one of those nation-shaking events that could change its form. It is important that this doesn't happen.

For the President's plan is either right, or not. If his announced position was unacceptable on the 3rd of November, we should have said so then. If it was worthy of the support of upwards of 70 per cent of the American public (as it was), it remains so today.

But what of the My Lai charges? By any standard, their substance must be condemned. Revulsion is the only possibel reaction of a people of good conscience.

Those who want immediate withdrawal may well try to use My Lai as a lever to revitalize their purpose. Some have already tested its impact and effect. But their arguments can be easily blunted if all Americans join in repudiation of this kind of brutalization. Dove, hawk, demonstrator and the silent majority — all should reject this kind of act.

Only if there is foot dragging, defense or justification by a substantial number of Americans on this issue can our set course be diverted. For then the majority might well become a minority and consensus in support of the President would disappear.

In fact, the President's policy is best sustained by repudiation of My Lai. The reason for our military presence in South Vietnam is to protect the dignity and freedom of its people. If our means of attaining this purpose includes brutality, our efforts are self-defeating.

So condoning this kind of military action is incompatible with the President's program. On November 3rd, he carefully explained the risk of slaughter if we precipitously withdrew. He said:

"For the South Vietnamese, our precipitate withdrawal would inevitably allow the Communists to repeat the massacres which followed their take over of the North 15 years ago.

"They then murdered more than fifty thousand people and hundreds of thousands more died in slave labor camps.

"We saw a prelude of what would happen in South Vietnam when the Communists entered the city of Hue last year. During their brief rule there, there was a bloody reign of terror in which some 3,000 civilians were clubbed, shot to death and buried in mass graves.

"With the sudden collapse of our support, these atrocities of Hue would become the nightmare of the entire nation — and particularly for the million and a half Catholic refugees who fled to South Vietnam when the Communists took over the North in 1954."

Reading this, the difference is plain. Communist atrocities are a matter of their national policy. My Lai is a dreadful occurrence that happened in the field and does not represent American policy. The Administration should make this plain by continuing to repudiate senseless killing of noncombatants by Americans.

The Army seems to have fallen on difficult times. Charges of black market activity, PX pay offs, and now My Lai, indicate that something is wrong with traditional service discipline. Whether this arises from the realities of fighting a limited war, from lack of support within this country, or from the fact that this is a conscript army is immaterial. Before the world and before our own conscience, those representing the United States of America should be brought under better control.

International Trees

"Oh Christmas tree; oh Christmas tree

"How shall we decorate the Christmas tree?"

Help comes from Nashville, Tenn., where 35,000 people each year visit the annual exhibit called Christmas Trees of Many Lands.

Each tree in the exhibit represents the traditional decorations of a different country. Each is designed and decorated by cooperating garden clubs under the direction of the Horticultural Society of Davidson County. Many of the ornaments used are handmade by club members.

Some of the trees and some of the ornaments with directions on how to make the ornaments were presented in the December 1966 copy of House Beautiful.

Many more of the trees and some of the ornaments with more directions are featured in a book entitled The Trees of Christmas replete with colored photographs and a text compiled by Edna Metcalfe and published by Abington Press.

In this book twenty-three trees are presented each in an article that gives directions for making the ornaments and other decorations that are used on the tree.

ONE OF THE MOST CHARMING trees pictured, in the book is an immigrant from Scandinavian countries known as the Bird Tree. It is picturesque with popcorn strings doubled from the limbs like strings of pearls. To add to the beauty there are marshmellow sticks, cranberry rings, orange baskets and bird feeders that are made from aluminum foil and mesh cloth.

The Japanese fan tree has yellow fans and crystal wind chimes. The tree from Mexico is round and bushy — perhaps a Montrey Pine. Its needles are covered with white doves and miniature pinatas and lanterns in multiple colors made from crape paper.

One of the lovliest of the trees comes from lithuania and is decorated with tear drops made of reeds of wires and covered with red felt. Inside each is an elf with red clothes and a white beard. The elves are made from wire, a scrap of nylon hose and a small piece of natural-colored burlap. To add to the beauty of the tree there are angels in loops and there are chains and red crosses. A cradle is at the base of the tree to add a realistic touch.

ANOTHER SOURCE of help in decorating your Christmas tree comes from the December issues of the Relief Society magazine. The December 1968 issue presented several pages of trees among them the pioneer Christmas trees with popcorn balls, paper chains and miniature rag dolls.

The December 1969 issue includes a different popcorn tree, in the best pioneer tradition, and a homemade doll tree. The dolls are made from pasteboard cartons and scraps of material. Unfortunately, the magazine does not give directions to assist in making the ornaments.

Still other sources for novel Christmas trees are the December issues of Sunset Magazine. On page 64 of the December 1968 issue is an article entitled, "Surprises You Hang on the Tree."

The surprises are made from yarn, folded paper, sheet aluminum, beeswax, bakers clay.

The authors write: "The ornaments that you make and your children have made with your own hands are often the ones you treasure more than anything else you put on your tree." Illustrations and instructions follow.

Take Your Time!

DO NOT BE RUSHED into making your Christmas purchases. Take the time to determine what you want to give, know the correct sizes and the desired colors and you will avoid excharges.

Keep your sales slips and keep in mind that a sale is final. You may change your mind and decide that you do not want to give Uncle Joe that plaid robe you put ten dollars down on a lay-a-way but that does not mean the store has to return you your money.

When you sign you name, make a deposit and accept the merchandise, you consummate a sale. Unless the store has a privilege policy which will allow you to cancel your sales contract, the sale is definitely final.

Find out the return policy of the store before making a purchase. Stores do not have to display placards declaring all sales to be final. Some stores provide their return policy on sales slips. But again, stores are liberal in making refunds and exchanges only because it is their policy to do so, not because they are required by law to do so.

To make refunds, make any type of exchange, is a courtesy stores extend to theri customers. It is a courtesy that should not be abused by the needless return of merchandise which adds to the cost of doing business and, in the end, penalizes all customers.

The problem of understanding the finality of a sale is not confined to the so-called uneducated class of people. Top salary executives, their college graduate wives all demand and protest as equally loud when they are told they can not cancel out a purchase or are refused a refund.

The merchant has to run his business along positive, predetermined lines. He is entitled to a sensible profit. If he goes out of business customers lose as, with the firm goes all guarantees as well as services.

Good Breakfast Pays Off

Nutritionists long have advocated starting the day with a substantial breakfast as a way toward greater achievement. In a rural Oklahoma elementary school it has been confirmed how right they are. In conjunction with the Oklahoma Department of Education, the schoolmen surveyed their students and found 70 per cent coming to school hungry.

The school launched a five-cent breakfast for the pupils, with the cost of the citrus juice, milk, toast, cereal or eggs subsidized by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

After a year, not only is there a 28 per cent drop in absenteeism, but achievement test scores averaged 3.5 per cent higher. Greater achievements are expected in succeeding years. But one lesson already is being learned by pupils at one school. A good day demands a good start.

'One Life For What?' San Mateo Reader Asks

Editor, The Post:

On November 20, 1969, a 27-year-old San Bruno resident, one Merrill Anderson, a customer in a giant supermarket in South San Francisco, was chased by supermarket employes to his death under the wheels of a loaded dump truck.

Store employes say he had taken a $1.00 tube of hair cream from the shelf and concealed it in the top of his boot, which is NOT an illegal act. They saw the man do this; they were not deceived. Two store employes attempted to detain the man in the store. He broke and ran. They chased him through two parking lots and at one point collared him, but he again broke away and met a horrible death trying to gain his liberty in the open street.

One life — for what?

To prejudge this man as a thief who brought on his own grim fate is the easy way out. But a moral and legal regard for human life dictates the need for information that our public officials are apparently not disposed to ascertain: Was the man arrested? When, where, and for what reason? Was he properly informed? To what extent did the store's policy contribute to or actually cause the man's death? Did he meet death fleeing from lawful arrest, or in resisting unlawful detention? Where is the testimony of unbiased witnesses?

It should be a matter of general concern when licensed public service establishments have policies which result in forcibly holding or threatening to hold their patrons for "ransom." The practice is actually widespread.

It is a matter of court record that a North Hollywood hospital several years ago unlawfully "detained" a newborn baby against the wishes of anguished parents because the maternity bill had not been fully paid. In the Merrill Anderson case there was no unpaid bill. He had offered to pay.

No one condones thievery or beating a bill. But the constitutional rights you and I have can be preserved only by our vigilant concern for those of others, including suspects.

LOUIS W. JONES,
San Mateo.

Editor, The Post:

In his speech to the nation, President Nixon outlined his efforts and his goals in bringing to an end the war in Vietnam which he inherited ten months ago. He made it quite clear that he has the moral courage to follow through on commitments made by his predecessors and his actions since the inauguration clearly point out that he is taking the steps to end this war that cannot be won under present ground rules as soon as possible.

So, why was a Moratorium Day demonstration necessary, or even considered?

Is there any true American who doesn't want the war over as soon as possible and all American troops home?

Since the President has shown that he is taking steps to accomplish this, the Moratorium Day demonstration must have been for the benefit of Hanoi, that being the only other party capable of bringing the war to an end. Since cessation of the bombing, withdrawal of troops, attempted negatiations, etc. have brought not one evidence of willingness to end the war, what else can the President do to show good faith?

It would appear that the best way to insure that Hanoi gets a first-hand view of the demonstrators would be to give them a one-way ticket to Hanoi. I'm sure that many true Americans would be happy to contribute to this worthy cause.

JAMES V. GREALISH,

Editor, The Post:

There is something more important than "academic freedom" — the right to self-preservation. Communists are openly commited to destruction of this country and enslavement of its people. If the present court ruling allowing an avowed Communist, Miss Angela Davis, to teach at the University of California remains in force, it would represent the total aberration of common sense and would signify abdication of the right to self-preservation by the American people. The next step is inevitably slavery.

M. DJORDJEVICH,

Murder Trial: Severity Of Retired Sea Captain's Beating Described

The severity of the beating that took the life of Christian Pedersen, 92-year-old retired Pacifica sea captain, last June 20 was described December 2 by Dr. Peter A. Benson, a county pathologist.

Dr. Benson, called as a prosecution witness in the Carlos Lopez murder trial in Redwood City, said Pedersen suffered two skull fractures and six separate and distinct lacerations, or tearing of the skin, on his head. Pedersen died of brain damage, the witness told the jury.

Shown a heavy gardening shears that Deputy Dist. Atty. James L. Browning contends was the murder weapon, Dr. Benson said the implement could have inflicted the injuries.

Lopez, 25, is on trial before a jury of eight men and four women in the courtroom of Superior Court Judge Allison M. Rouse on four charges, including the murder of Pedersen and felonious assault on his wife, May, 74. It is alleged that Lopez and Clarence Galindo, 19, after escaping from the San Francisco County Jail west of San Bruno, broke into the Pedersen home at 165 Winona Avenue in Pacifica to get food, clothing and money.

Galindo is scheduled to stand trial next Jan. 5 in another courtroom.

Mrs. Pedersen, who has not recovered from her injuries and is still hospitalized, will not be able to testify in the trial, according to Browning.

On the witness stand yesterday, Pacifica Police Capt. Melvin R. Nelson said when he entered the Pedersen home after being summoned by a neighbor he found Mrs. Pedersen, bleeding from a head wound, standing in the doorway of the master bedroom.

"She became very frightened when she saw me," Nelson said.

After he finally convinced her that he was a police officer, Nelson told the jury, Mrs. Pedersen told him:

"There were two men here and they assaulted my husband and me."

Lopez and Galindo were captured under the house.

Under cross-examination by Defense Lawyer George P. Eshoo, Nelson acknowledged that Lopez was cooperative after his arrest.

Murder Trial: Jury Told Widow Of Slaying Victim 'Unaware' Of His Death

A Pacifica physician told the Carlos Lopez murder jury on Dec. 3 that at times the widow of the brutally slain Christian Pedersen "is unaware of her husband's absence or death."

Dr. Thomas E. Wright said Mrs. May Pedersen, 74, suffers from confusion and loss of memory. She is bedfast in Peninsula Hospital, the witness said, and unable to come to court to testify.

Under cross-examination by defense attorney George P. Eshoo, however, Dr. Wright said the mental condition existed to a degree prior to June 20, on which date she was beaten on the head at the time her 92-year-old husband was fatally injured.

The physician said he could not tell how much of her present condition is due to the injuries she sustained and how much is attributable to the natural course of the pre-existing condition. He told the jury, however, that the condition has become "much worse" since the beating.

Deputy District Attorney James L. Browning, who had called Dr. Wright to the witness stand, took over the questioning at that point and got the physician to say that the beating could not be ruled out as the cause of the worsening of Mrs. Pedersen's condition.

Browning contends that the weapon, which he says was wielded either by Lopez or co-defendant Clarance Galindo, or both, was a heavy gardening shears taken from a toolshed in the back of the Pedersen home at 163 Winona Avenue.

Galindo, 19, is scheduled to stand trial January 5. His trial had been scheduled to start in another court Monday but was postponed December 3.

Another witness called by Browning December 3 was not allowed to testify. He was William Muller, who knew both defendants in county jail while he was incarcerated on a civil contempt of court commitment.

Browning asked the bearded Muller if he had overheard any conversations between Lopez and Galindo concerning plans for escaping from jail. Eshoo objected, however, and, after a long session outside the presence of the jury, Superior Court Judge Allison M. Rouse ordered that the testimony would not be allowed.

Still another witness Wednesday was Paul Dougherty, sheriff's criminalist, who identified blood on the shears and Lopez' fingerprint on the Pedersen telephone.

Lopez Murder Trial: Accused Says He Wanted Only To 'Save' Coast Couple

Carlos Lopez insisted on the witness stand on Friday that the only reason he went into the Christian and May Pedersen home in Pacifica last June 20 was to save the elderly couple from Clarence Galindo, who had escaped from jail with him three days earlier.

When Galindo broke into the home, Lopez said, he refused to go with him. But then when he heard Mrs. Pedersen scream, the defendant told the jury, he ran into the house.

"Are you telling us you went in there to protect that woman and man from Galindo?" Deputy District Attorney James L. Browning demanded.

"Yes," Lopez replied. "That is the only reason I went in the house."

With the completion of Lopez' testimony defense lawyer George P. Eshoo rested the case for the defense. Browning called two rebuttal witnesses. He was uncertain about whether he will call anyone else to testify. If not, Superior Court Judge Allison M. Rouse said, final summations by the lawyers will start Monday afternoon and the case should go to the jury of eight men and four women Tuesday or Wednesday.

Lopez, who was 26 last Sunday, is charged with the murder of Christian Pedersen and aggravated assault upon Mrs. Pedersen. He is also accused of counts of robbery and burglary.

Galindo, 19, is scheduled to face the same charges in a trial scheduled for January 5.

Lopez told the jury that after he and Galindo had spent the night in the Pedersen tool shed Galindo armed himself with a heavy shears and said he was going into the house. The witness said he tried to talk Galindo out of it and pointed out that they had nearly been captured by police five times in the area.

"Galindo said now is the time we better split up," Lopez told the jury.

The defendant said he started to walk toward the "jungle," the thickly brushed area west of Pacifica through which they had walked after their escape.

"Then I heard a woman screaming," Lopez said. "I changed my mind and went in the house."

Woman Interrupts Officer's Breakfast

Daly City Policeman Bob Dean was having his usual quiet breakfast at Vern's Restaurant on Mission Street early on Friday when in stroleld an attractive brunette woman about 25 years old.

Dean looked up from his coffee and then did a doub.e take.

The woman wore lipstick — and nothing else.

The young officer bundled the woman in a blanket as a scattering of customers stared disbelieving at the spectacle.

Police said the woman had been staying at a nearby motel and explained, "Someone is trying to kill me."

Investigation disclosed she had checked into the motel with a male companion about 4 a.m. When police arrived the man was gone.

The woman's last known address was San Antonio, Texas.

She was taken to San Mateo County General Hospital for examination, police said.

Sheriff Whitmore Issues Statement On Incident

San Mateo County Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore announced December 2 that he has reviewed reports of an incident involving a shooting on San Bruno Mountain October 30.

He said he studied the report made by Mark Dillon, 16, David Bias, 16, and Carl Gianne, 17, all of South San Francisco. They had told officers that someone had shot at them as they were running on the mountain. A sheriff's office spokesman later said the youths were not fired upon but were only in the area where shooting was taking place.

"The facts as given by the three boys in the original report are in no way 'false' as indicated by a newspaper story on Nov. 13, 1969," Whitmore stated.

Assistant Sheriff Eugene E. Stewart at that time told reporters, "This story turns out to be completely false." Stewart added, "The story apparently just snowballed by the time they got back to school."

However, Whitmore said yesterday, "Investigation has revealed that the conclusions should be, 'That it has been impossible to determine any intent on the part of the alleged suspects to deliberately shoot at the boys.'

"This conclusion should not be interpreted as meaning any of the three boys making the report, made any false report or statements to the officers investigating this report or any officer taking this report," the sheriff declared.

Uproar at County Supervisors Meet

A proposed new ordinance which would allow plastic-covered electrical wiring in residences instead of metal covered cables was put over for 60 days by county supervisors on December 3 after an unprecedented hearing of more than two hours which was filled — literally — with fireworks and a black Santa Claus handing out candy canes until his Santa Claus pants fell to below his knees.

The unidentified black Santa Claus caused an uproar shortly after 4:30 p.m. as he entered the supervisors' chambers with a "Ho, ho, ho," and started to pass out Christmas candy canes from his Santa Claus bag. He made it to the front of the room, his Santa Claus pants gradually slipping below his knees.

"You can see, it isn't easy to conduct these meetings," Robert B. St. Clair, chairman of the county board, remarked.

Deputy Sheriff Richard G. Schofield, who is stationed at all supervisors' meetings, rushed to Santa's aid and helped him pull up his pants.

As "Santa" left the chambers, St. Clair commented, "You really don't believe it, do you"

The fireworks came as Robert G. Coleman, executive manager of the Electrical Contractors' Association of San Mateo County, presented a demonstration showing how a plastic sheathed cable would burst into flames before a metal sheathed one.

Coleman had on display a plywood panel with one circuit containing a plastic sheathed wire and the other covered with a metal conduit.

When he flicked on a switch several times, the plastic covered wiring began to smoke heavily, causing coughing among the audience. St. Clair ordered the doors opened to clear the chambers of fumes. Although Coleman said he had asked a Redwood City fireman to be on duty, the fireman had left before the demonstration because of the lateness of the hour. He proceeded with the exhibit, however.

Marshalling their heaviest arguments for the new ordinance, on one side, was the Peninsula Building Industry Association and the National Electrical Manufacturers Association, while on the other side, opposing the new law, wee the San Mateo County Electrical Contractors Association and Local 617 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

The county board's decision to hold over the proposed new electrical code, recommended by Henry P. Tarratt, county director of building construction and general services, hinged on the issue of uniformity.

Two city electrical officials, Henry Wisner, chief electrician for Daly City, and Ernest Hills, Burlingame city electrician, spoke against adoption of the new electrical code, and supervisors expressed fares that if the county adopted the code alone, a lack of building inspection uniformity throughout the county would result.

Although Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald moved for adoption of the new electrical code, the motion was defeated by a three to two vote when only he and Supervisor William M. Werder voted for it.

Supervisors then voted to reopen the hearing in 60 days to give individual cities time to take a stand on the proposed new code. Fitzgerald was the only one balloting against the continuance.

Pork's New Image Means More Protein

What is pork's "new image" that's making meat market news?

According to a meat expert it is a slimmer, trimmer porker that could be termed streamlined. Scientific methods of breeding and feeding plus closer trimming of fat have produced this better-than-ever pork.

Calories have been cut 36 per cent while the protein content has increased more than 22 percent. This modern leaner pork is a boon to today's calorie-conscious homemakers and their families.

For example, 1 cooked pork loin chop (3½ ounces) provides only 250 calories. Of course additional ingredients used in preparation add more calories. Few extra calories are added, however, in the following taste-tempting recipe for Celery Pork Chops.

Celery Pork Chops

6 rib or loin pork chops, cut ¾ to 1 inch thick
1 tablespoon lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¾ cu chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped onions

Brown chops in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Add celery and onion. Cover tightly and cook over low heat 45 minutes, or until done. 6 servings.

Nothing finishes off a meal with fanfare on cold evenings like a warm pie. Tart apples for filling crusts are abundant. Some Favorite Flavors Are Blended In Chicken Recipe For A Main Dish

Some of our favorite flavors are blended in this marvelous new chicken recipe featuring fresh Bartlett pears and raisins. Serve "Chicken California" with rice sprinklered with finely chopped parsley for a superb main dish.

There is a big crop of California Bartletts this year. The crop is noteworthy not only for its size, but for the quality of the fruit. Many of the pears tend to be a little larger than in past seasons, and are beautifully shaped, being somewhat more slender than usual.

Elegant as this new chicken treatment is, it's simply a mtter of browning chicken pieces that have been coated with seasoned flour; adding a simmering liquid made with canned chicken broth, onion, Dijon mustard, sugar and winegar; and then, for the final touch, you put in some raisins and quartered fresh California Bartlett pears.

For the vegetable, we suggest canned green beans of the Blue Lake variety, heated in their own liquid, drained, and sauced with melted butter and sliced or slivered almonds. The salad might be a simple mixture of two or more greens with a few sliced green onions or radishes. Toss it with a clear oil and vinegar dressing flavored with crumbled rosemary. For dessert for this feast, let your calorie conscience be your guide (Toasted almond or coffee ice cream drizzled with chocolate sundae topping would be wonderful.)

If you are a calorie counter, you'll wellcome our pear and chicken salad recipe. It's called "Porch Supper Chicken Salad" because it would make a fine main dish for a balmy day when you plan to eat outdoors.

The two principal ingredients, cooked chicken and fresh Bartletts, are both in the low-calorie category. The dressing keeps the whole salad low in calorie count because it's simply a combination of yogurt and seasonings.

You'll find that the use of thyme and tarragon in the dressing results in a delightful flavor that is amost like a "new" herb. On another occasion, use this dressing to spoon over sliced pears on individual salad plates lined with lettuce and garnished with a few berries or small clusters of grapes. This herby yogurt dresing is simply delightful with fresh Bartlett pears, with or without chicken.

Count 305 calories for each generous serving of this satisfying main dish salad.

- 1 can (10½-oz.) condensed chicken broth
- Water
- 1 tablespoon instant minced onion or ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablesoons prepared Dijon mustard
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- Flour (optional)
- 2 fresh California Bartlett pears
- ½ cup dark seedless raisins

Wash and dry chicken; saute in large skillet in butter and salad oil until golden in color. Add the can of chicken broth to skillet, a soup can of water, the onion, vinegar, salt and pepper. Stir mustard with sugar, then mix into liquid in skillet. Place well-fitting cover over skillet and simmer 45 minutes or until chicken is fork-tender. If you prefer a thicker sauce than you have at this time, blend 1 or 2 tablespoons folur with an equal amount of water, stir into skillet and cook, stirring gently until thickened.

Halve, core and quarter pears; add along with raisins to chicken and sauce; heat through (about 2 minutes — less if pears are very ripe).

Makes 4 servings.

PORCH SUPPER CHICKEN SALAD

- ¾ cup plain yogurt
- 1 teaspoon onion powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon thyme
- ¼ teaspoon tarragon
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 2 or 3 fresh California Bartlett pears
- 2 cups cubed cooked chicken
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 1 quart torn iceberg lettuce

For dressing, mix yogurt with seasonings. Halve, core and cube pears to get 2 cups; combine with chicken, celery and lettuce in salad bowl and pour dressing over. Toss well.

Makes 4 servings.

Puffy Cheese Topping For Lamb Chops

Bring a change of pace to your fall dinner table with this savory and sophisticated entree — English Lamb Chops. A tasty cheese topping is baked on each chop.

Select either arm or blade lamb chops. These chops from the shoulder are an economical choice.

ENGLISH LAMB CHOPS

- 6 arm or blade lamb chops, cut ½-inch thick
- 2 tablespoons lard of drippings
- 4 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 1¼ cups milk
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt.
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 6 ounces processed American cheese
- 2 slices semi-dry white bread

Brown chops on one side in lard or drippings. Arrange in flat baking dish, uncooked side up. Melt butter or margarine. Stir in flour to make a smooth paste. Gradually add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until thick and smooth. Add Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Spoon ¼ cup sauce on center of each chop. Coarselt grate cheese and bread and mix to combine. Spoon ¼ cup crumb mixture over each sauce-topped chop. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) 1 hour or until meat is tender. 6 servings.

Homemade Soup Means Simmering

Who makes homemade soup today? Too few cooks!

Soup making makes minimal demands on the cook's time. Meat and vegetables are quickly readied for the pot. The only time-consuming part of soup making is the several hours of simmering — during which the cook is free and family appetites are aroused by the aroma wafting from the pot.

BEEF IN A BOWL

- 3 to 4 pounds oxjoints or beef shank cross cuts
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 8 cups water
- 4 teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 1 onion, sliced
- ¼ teaspoon marjoram
- 1 bay leaf
- 3 medium potatoes, diced
- 2 large carrots, sliced
- 1 cup diced rutabaga or turnip
- 1 can (1 pound) tomatoes

Brown meat on all sides in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add water, salt, pepper, onion, marjoram and bay leaf. Cover and simmer over low heat for 2 hours. Add potatoes, carrots, rutabaga or turnips and tomatoes. Cover and simmer until meat and vegetables are tender, about 30 minutes. 6 to 8 servings.

Custom Cottage Cheese — For that added touch that makes a reputation for a good cook, add caraway or poppy seed, capers, rosemary, tarragon, ginger or other spices and seasonings to cottage cheese.

N.P.L. BASKETBALL ACTION

A Growing Jeff Boy's Dedication

The Indians Smother Cap, South S.F. Falls To Mills

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Sports Writer

Last year when Pinky Smith was just a growing boy prep basketball fans had some reservations about the 6-5 center being able to make a switch to college forward as he didn't seem to possess exceptional speed.

This past summer Smith clamped lead weights around his ankles and waist and, showing a degree of dedication seldom found in a high school athlete, ran at least a mile per day to strengthen his weak knees and add quickness to his moves.

Saturday night the silky-smooth basketball star had his off-season efforts rewarded in full. Already an accomplished scorer and rebounder, Smith turned runner, a rare sight in a Jefferson basketball quintet, as the Indians smothered Capuchino, 69-57, to win their third straight practice game.

Fast-breaking like a seasond NBA guard, Smith led a second half explosion that rocked the losers back on their heels. When the game finally ended Smith had scored 33 points and pulled down 24 rebounds. In the three Jefferson wins Smith already has scored an even 100 points, a career total for 80 per cent of the preps, and with each passing quarter it seems virtually impossible to stop the agile center.

The Cap-Jeff game was the tail-end of a high school doubleheader which saw Mills rally to win its first game of the year, 67-65, over a foul-infested South San Francisco contingent.

But the story has been and apparently will continue to be Smith. Capuchino, behind Dave Adornetto's rapidly improving offensive efforts, had rallied from a 30-21 deficit to a 33-all tie midway through the third period.

But then Jeff and Smith outscored the Mustangs, 18-3, to take a winning 51-36 bulge. He opened his spurt with a 10-foot jumper straight away then added a quick layin. After a Cap bucket Smith scored three straight field goals from exactly the same spot — 15 feet in front — off three fast break situations. He capped the rally early in the last period with another 15-footer, again off a break which he led, slipped in two free throws and ended the output with another running eight-footer that upped Jeff's bulge to 15 points.

Adornetto and guard Jim Castellanos vainly tried to play catch-up as they totaled 29 points between them. But when any Cap player got too close what's-his-name was there with a menacing hand. Smith blocked five shots just to prove he can do other things besides run, rebound and score.

Cap, foolishly it appeared at first, was virtually unafraid of Smith even after he whacked a few attempts down. The Mustangs took the ball to him inside but again suffered from a cold shooting night around the perimeter.

Jeff guard John Burrus gave the Indians what they have missed in the past, an outside shooting guard, as he pumped through 17 points while 6-7 Earl Wilson, making his first varsity start, came through with 12.

For Mills it was a win difficult to describe. South S.F. held a 14-point lead with just four minutes to go in the game but for the first time in three years the Warrior offense went completely dead.

Fouls fouled the defending North Peninsula League champs. Starting center Andy Alexander was whistled to the bench early in the third period and his substitute, junior Setoga Setoga, played little more than a quarter before getting his fifth. After that Warrior coach Bill Purcell didn't have anyone over 6-0 to withstand the final Mills' charge.

Mills began its winning rally with Clain Campagna, Dave DeMartini and Chris Condit hitting three buckets off missed shots. Mills was content to throw up the ball and count on getting the offensive boards, which it did, over the under-sized Warriors. Then it came down to the final 17 seconds with Mills leading, 65-63, on DeMartini's 12-footer.

Mike Larios, who had a 14-point first quarter and 28 points for the night, was fouled with 17 seconds left but missed the first of a one-and-one situation. Campagna was fouled by Mackey, who also got five tweets, and the Viking guard sank two free throws to ice the comeback.

"You don't expect a big team to rally like that," grinned Frank Firpo after the game. "Small quick teams can but I certainly didn't expect us to. I was hoping, though."

Peninsula Teams Enter S.F. Riordan Tournament

Local prep basketball teams will be getting into the holiday spirit early this year with no less than three tournaments and countless individual match-ups highlighting this week's activities.

The featured event this week will be the Riordan Tournament in San Francisco with three top local schools in the pairings. Undefeated Jefferson, Capuchino and South San Francisco all will make the trip to the big City Thursday, Friday and Saturday to face the likes of Riordan and 6-11 Kevin Restani, Salesian (5-1), Lincoln, Polytechnic and Woodrow Wilson.

Before the weekender begins, however, numerous other events were on tap Tuesday afternoon, for example, four local games should have been worthseeing. Heading that list was the Polytechnic-Hillsdale game in the knights' gym. Homer Zugelder's lads lost their opening game to Serra last Friday but showed moments of the talent that many feel will carry them to the 1969 Mid-Peninsula League title.

Serra, which now sports a 1-1 record, took on defending MPL champ, Aragon, in the Don gymnasium. Serra, after this game, left for a two-game swing around Sacramento with fellow parochial parishes. The Dons are not expected to stay among the elite this year but Eddie Diaz always has a tough starting five and could cause the Padres some problems.

Tall, lanky Mission of San Francisco gave Capuchino, now on a two-game losing streak, another test at 3:15 p.m. in San Bruno while Balboa, which has had awful things happen to it in three Peninsula games last week (0-3 against this area) planned to even things up against South City.

Scrappy Burlingame, which defeated San Carlos in what some regard as a mild upset was favored over Carlmont on Tuesday in the Panther gym. Here is the complete week's schedule for Peninsula cage teams:

Paly Gridder Burns Tigers In Opener

Center Larry Bailey, who has barely had time to change out of his football uniform, hit 12 points in the first half to lead Palo Alto to a 58-53 triumph over Terra Nova in the opening cage game of the season Dec. 2.

Besides Bailey, forward Phil Moore picked up 10 of his 16 points in the second half to halt the Terra Nova comeback. Palo Alto Coach Clem Wiser praised his "essentially six-man team," but said "we're shooting for about a fourth place" in the South Peninsula League this year.

First Mat Tournament Crown Won By Skyline

Transfer Marc Likens brought new Skyline College its first championship Saturday night.

Likens took the 167-pound title in the Eighth Annual College of San Mateo Invitational Wrestling Tournament for the only victory by a county JC in the day-long competition.

Likens, who was second in the Golden Gate Conference and in Northern California at 177 pounds for College of San Mateo last season, gave the new San Bruno school a title with his 6-2 decision of Delta's Bill Morgan in Saturday night's finals.

Fresno City College edged defending tourney champion Diablo Valley, 71-69, for the team title by taking three individual championships. Fourth-place College of the Sequoias had two individual champions, including 134 pounder Pedro Gomez, who was voted the tourney's outstanding wrestler after his narrow victory over Manuel DeLuna of Diablo Valley on a referee's decision.

Top CSM finishers were 190-pounder Mike Stewart and 142-pounder Joel Anderson. Canada got a fourth place from Pat Lucatuorto (134).

San Mateo finished ninth in the 23-team field with 21 points. Skyline was 11th with 16 and Canada 15th with 12.

Outstanding wrestler—Pedro Gomez, College of the Sequoias (134).
Team Scores:

Westmoor Ram Debut Is Just Dandy, Thanks

One year ago when Westmoor needed a guard to fill out its starting five, Ram coach Tony Giamonna started one who had played 'C' ball just the season before.

The gamble worked and Steve Gilmore then became one of the two best guards in the North Peninsula League. This year Giamonna went to the well once more and apparently he has come up smelling like a rose.

Despite the Daly City councilman missing last week's opener, his Ram quintet took Mills apart, 55-47, with junior guard Brad Quanstrom making his varsity debut nothing short of sensational. The 5-10 playmaker did everything — he scored, rebounded, passed, ball-hawked and played a tenacious defense that constantly kept the Vikings rocking on their heels.

Quanstrom had seven assists, four rebounds, five steals, 27 points and even a blocked shot to his credit. In fact, the whole Ram squad looked in mid-season form while it appeared the taller but slower Vikings still have to loosen up especially on offense.

Scoring the first six points on long-range jumpers, by now a Westmoore trademark, Wuanstrom, last year's second-leading scorer in NPL 'C' play, totaled 17 by halftime and missed just two of his first nine floor shots. Westmoore quickly built up a seven-point lead, 17-10, and with center Mike Reynolds and forwards Jeff Orlich and Jim Lewis controlling the boards, upped that to 28-17 just before intermission.

Half Moon Bay Defeats Crestmoor

Senior Forward Larry Gunning lived up to his name Friday scoring five points in the final two minutes of play to bring the Half Moon Bay Cougars from a 45-45 tie with Crestmoor to a 51-49 victory.

Gunning, who led all scorers with 16 points, hit a clutch jumper from the right corner with two seconds remaining to give the Cougars their second win this week.

The Crestmoor Falcons had tied it up on a hoop by Dave Saltenberger with less than thirty seconds to play.

Four Horsemen — A Combination Of Myth, Reality

By LE PACINI

SINCE THE BIRTH of Pat O'Brien and the career of Grantland Rice ("Outlined against the blue-gray November sky . . ."), you've been hearing about Notre Dame's legendary backfield of the early '20s — Four Horsemen Jim Crowley, Elmer Layden, Don Miller and Harry Stuhldreher.

But what of their actual, recorded individual achievements on the field? You'll find they're somewhere in between myth and reality, as you've probably always suspected.

They weren't big men, even for those days. They averaged 5-10 in height and 157-59 pounds, depending on what particular rosters you're checking.

The distribution of offensive duties among the three was amazingly equal during their three varsity seasons together. The three running backs (Crowley, Layden and Miller) carried the ball 294, 293 and 283 times, respectively, during their Notre Dame careers. Miller gained a career total of 1933 yards rushing, for a 6.8 average gain per carry. Crowley ran for 1841 (6.3) and Layden, the "big" crashing fullback (6 feet, 162 pounds), gained 1296 yards for a 4.4 average. Miller scored 17 TDs rushing, Crowley 15, Layden 11.

CROWLEY ATTEMPTED more career passes than quarterback Stuhldreher, 83 to 67. But Stuhldreher completed 43 for 744 yards and 10 TDs to Crowley's 37 completions for 644 yards and four TDs. Layden attempted 29 passes, Miller only one.

Best receiver among the four was Miller, who snared 31 for 590 yards (a 19-yard per reception average) and four TDs. Stuhldreher caught 18 for 210 (11.7) and one TD. Crowley received 13 for 309 (23.8) and three TDs.

Top punt return man was Stuhldreher, who returned 88 for an 8-yard average. Layden was the best of the kickoff returners, bringing back 13 for a 20.0 average. Miller had a better KO return average (30.6) but returned only 7.

Miller scored the most career touchdowns, 22, but Crowley, who handled most of the extra point duties, scored the most points, 144.

Crowley also had the best punting average, 38.0, but booted only seven times. Layden, who handled all of the rest of the punting during their careers, averaged 36.4.

The Four Horsemen also played backfield on defense, and were exceptional in that area, too. The only existing statistics dealing with defense show Layden as the top interception man, with 7, followed by Crowley, 6.

AS IF YOU HAVEN'T NOTICED, it's All American Team season again (yes, of course, there is even a season for THAT now), and if you're one of us, one of the die-hards who continually complain about the invalidity of All America teams but never does anything about them (such as completely ignoring them), imagine how you would have felt between 1889 and 1924, a period in which there was only one All American Team and that "official" team was chosen by just one man, Walter Camp.

What's even more frustrating is that Camp's "teams" have a continuing influence of the whole "All American" picture. To this day, no college team — not even Notre Dame — has been able to catch up to Yale, Harvard and Princeton in the matter of total numbers of athletes named as All Americans.

As you know, Camp might just as well have called his All Americans All Ivy Leagues, because the teams were chosen almost exclusively from among that one cluster of universities — virtually exclusively, as a matter of fact, from just among — you guessed it — Yale, Harvard and Princeton.

After all these years, Yale still leads the pack with 100 All American selections (among 89 players), followed by Harvard with 89 (59 players) and Princeton, at 65 (49 players.)

Since Camp, Notre Dame leads with 57 selections (49 players), followed by Pennsylvania, 46 (32).

Of the Coastal schools, USC leads with 24 (22), while locally, Stanford has had 16 (12), followed by Cal, 14 (12).

Notre Dame, logically, has the best major college winning percentage, .769. Coastal leader, naturally, is USC, with a .695. Cal edges Stanford out, .620 to .613. (All of these figures exclude this past season.)

WHEN WILT CHAMBERLAIN was told by doctors, a few weeks ago, that ht would be out for the season after a knee operation and he told them that he'd be playing before the season was out, they scoffed. But in a recent Warrior game televised from Los Angeles, Chamberlain was interviewed by Hank Greenwald, and to get to Greenwald and the camera and mike, he had to navigate an imposing flight of stairs. He appeared to be depending very little on his crutches.

So if Wilt returns before the season is over, and is in top form for the playoffs, don't be surprised. You shouldn't be, not if you've ever bothered to look beyond Chamberlain's fantastic scoring and rebounding records; for Wilt's NBA durability records are, we feel, just as fantastic as his more publicized ones.

He holds the record for most minutes played in one season (3882), most average minutes per game, one season (47.93), most consecutive minutes played (2193), most consecutive complete games (47), and most complete games in a season, 79. And aside from Bill Russell, he's played more career minutes of professional basketball than any player who ever lived.

IF YOU'RE ONE OF THE FANS wondering why the 49ers stayed so long with an inept Tommy Davis, forget the fact that he's Lou Spadia's son-in-law and keep in mind that he still holds the all-time pro record for consecutive conversions (234), that he has one of the better career records in field goal kicking, and that he's still ranked second in all-time standings for career punt average behind the nonpareil, Sammy Baugh, who just edges Tommy, 44.93 to 44.83.

JUST ANOTHER All Star" absurdity to add to your scrapbook: Cal defensive back Ken Weidemann, out almost half a season with a knee, didn't get so much as a "howdy" on the All Pac-8 team, but was given Honorable Mention on the UPI All American squad and made first string on the All Coast team.

LOCAL NOTES: South San Francisco's Greg Jones, UCLA's leading ground gainer, has done well thus far on the "All" teams, having gotten a UPI All Amiercan Honorable Mention and first string berths on the All Coast and All Pac-8 teams . . . Westmoor's Jim Lewis finished as Northern California's fifth best prep ground gainer and eighth best scorer, as he gained 1362 yards for a 7.8 average, and scored 19 TDs and 10 extra points for 124 points . . . Jim Sochor, former San Francisco State record-breaking passer (teams of 1957-59), has been appointed head football coach at UC Davis.

MURRAY OLDERMAN, in his fine book, "The Running Backs," lists Hugh McElhenny as, in his opinion, the sixth-best running back of all time. But Olderman fails to put Joe Perry in his Top Ten, which we consider strage, since Perry is still the third all-time ground gainer (behind Jimmy Brown and barely behind Jim Taylor) and was the second runner to gain 1000 yards rushing in a single season more than once — and he did it in the days of the 12-game schedules.

MPL Names Top Players

By JOHN HORGAN
Post Sports Writer

San Mateo High School, which ended in second place in the Mid-Peninsula League with a 4-1-1 record, dominated the All-MPL team.

The Bearcats placed seven players on the first string offensive and defensive teams. Burlingame, the unbeaten (5-0-1) MPL champion, and Capuchino both had five athletes selected on the two teams.

Burlingame's Hank Sauer ,the fourth leading running back in northern California, was picked as Back of the Year on offense. Capuchino's end-linebacker Craig Dalzelle was Lineman of the Year.

Defensively, Burlingame's Steve Robertson was Back of the Year and Cap's Jim Ritchey was Lineman of the Year.

The teams, which were chosen this week by the league's seven coaching staffs, contained 13 positions on the offensive side and 14 more on defense. Four players were named on both teams. They were: Capuchino's Dan Meschi; Burlingame's Scott Pecota; Hillsdale's Larry Hayes; and Dalzelle.

Filling out the offensive backfield with Sauer were: San Mateo's Jack Chambers and Frank Rivers; Mills' Marc Shea and Hayes.

The biggest offensive lineman was Burlingame's Pecota at 6-3 and 215 pounds. He was a mainstay for Coach Bob Booker's titlists at both end and tackle.

San Mateo's Mike Hess, a 6-1 235-pound defensive goliath who transferred to the MPL school from Carlmont, was the biggest player on either team.

Neither Aragon nor Crestmoor, the league's two lowest finishers, got a player named out of the 27 positions designated.

However, they did managed to nab six places between them on the lengthy honorable mention list.

A grand total of 40 boys were placed on that roster. That figure included: 11 from Burlingame; nine from San Mateo; and seven from Hillsdale.

Combined with the 24 names from the two first teams, a total of 64 boys were given some kind of mention by the league.

There was no Coach of the Year selected.

Skyline's Cagers Square Record

The neophyte basketballers of Skyline Junior College tried to square their season's record Tuesday night when they played host to Monterey Peninsula in their sixth game of the season.

Skyline scored its second win of the year Saturday in a 74-70 triumph over Diablo Valley — a defensively engineered contest that stands as the best performance to date for the first-year men of Walt Rilliet.

Trailing 37-36 at halftime, and by 10 points early in the second half, Skyline battled back on the free throw line, where the locals picked up 25 points. Skyline had only four team fouls in the second half.

Dick Young, who scored 13 of his points after intermission, led both teams with 21 points while Jerry Kollman tallied 17 and Dave Stevens 15.

Westmoor's Frosh-Soph Cagers Lose

Westmoor's Frosh-Soph Basketball team lost to the Vikings of Mills, 47-42, on the Viking home court.

Westmoor's Girls' Athletic Association's "A and B" volleyball squads met defeat in the hands of Terra Nova's girls squads on Westmoor's home courts.

The two teams "coached" by Mrs. Carolyn Knecht, the G. A. A. adviser, dropped the first two of three games in each match.

Ram "A" Squad lost both by 15-0 scores. The "B" team, gave their opponents a tougher game, as the Tiger team barely took their two games by scores of 15-12, and 15-14.

Westmoor's varsity soccer team which has not lost a game in its existence and has only been tied once, defeated the Serra Padres, 2-0.

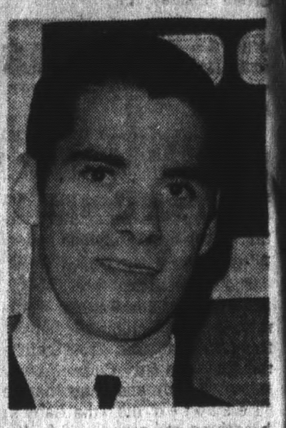
Jones Moved By Tribute

"Two weeks ago I had the biggest disappointment of my life. Tonight, though, I am the happiest and proudest person on earth. I thank you all."

With those words South San Francisco Greg Jones got a standing ovation from the packed crowd in the Warrior gymnasium last week as friends of the ex-Warrior great gathered to pay honor to the best running back ever to come out of the Peninsula.

After testimonial speeches from the gathered dignitaries, ranging from the mayor to his past and present coaches and friends, it was announced that South S.F. was going to annually award the "Greg Jones Scholar-Athlete" trophy to the graduating senior with the best over-all athletic and academic achievements.

Jones, a Prep All-America halfback for Ray DeJong's Warriors, graduated from South City with a 3.8 grade-point average and went on to UCLA to establish himself as an outstanding athlete and scholar. He was the second-leading offensive player in UCLA history, missing a 30-year-old mark by just 18 yards.



Greg Jones

"Just those two weeks ago I was two minutes away from fulfilling my life's ambition," he said, referring to the narrow loss to USC which would have sent Jones and UCLA into the Rose Bowl. "This makes up for quite a lot for me. Coming back four years after graduation and still having people wishing me well really means a lot to me. This is the greatest moment for me."

Red Cross Gives Prize To Fireman

Redwood City Fire Department Captain Eugene Paridy received one of the highest awards of the American Red Cross Monday night.

A Certificate of Merit was presented to Paridy for his efforts last July 16 in reviving a stricken infant who had stopped breathing.

Paridy, 37, administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to three-months-old Michael Vassigh, reviving the baby six times in a fire department car taking the child to Sequoia Hospital.

The Certificate of Merit, presented by Joe Bayliss, chairman of the Sequoia Region of the American Red Cross before the Redwood City Council, commends Paridy and notes that he "restored his (the baby's) breathing and saved his life."

Present for the ceremoney were Michael and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Vassigh, 690 Bradford Street.

The certificate was signed by Presidnet Richard M. Nixon and Roland Harriman, chairman of the American National Red Cross.

Paridy has been with the Redwood City Fire Department for 16 years. He resides with his wife, Jeanette, and their two children at 421 Jeter Street. Before joining the fire department Paridy served several years in the U. S. Coast Guard. He is a qualified instructor in the department's fire service program and has instructed at the College of San Mateo.

R.C. Attorney Aide Named

Appointment of Clark Maloney of San Mateo as deputy city attorney for Redwood City was approved Monday night by the Redwood City Council.

Maloney, 26, who presently is with the state legislative consel's office in Sacramento, will assume the $12,540 a year job in Redwood City December 29.

Single, Maloney is a graduate of the University of California and of Hastings School of Law.

City Atty. David Schricker recommended the appointment of a deputy attorney, citing the increased activities of his office, including several pending eminent domain proceedings, general improvement district matters in Redwood Shores and review and updating of city ordinances.

Set For Central Business

Another classification was inked into San Bruno's zoning ordinance Monday night.

Called Central Business District (CBD), the classification, when applied, theoretically will promote the orderly development of business districts as primarily a retail shopping facility, other uses will need special permits.

Although aimed at the city's San Mateo Avenue business area, CBD zoning could be applied anywhere in San Bruno.

Only two persons appeared before the councilmen at the public hearing on the matter; a pro and a con.

The vote of the councilmen also was split. Three affirmative and deciding votes came from Councilmen Karney Barberian, Maurice Hamilton and George Corey. Councilman George Ingham voted against the classification. And Mayor Neil Christal, admitting "prejudice," refrained from voting.

Ken Chapman, speaking on behalf of Chamber of Commerce membership, said a letter initiated by the chamber last month indicated that of 82 property owners contacted, two-thirds were in favor of the classification.

"The retail business, which pulls the foot traffic, is dropping," said Chapman. "And whether anyone wants to admit it or not, we are going to have to consider this new Tanforan Shopping Center going up. It is going to affect the downtown shopping area, and draw heavily from it."

Chapman said action to insure more orderly and beneficial development and use of the business area shouldn't be delayed. "The situation is not getting any better," said Chapman.

The voice on the other side of the coin was that of Harry Rongey, operator of a realty company on El Camino Real.

"If this is adopted, we don't know where it will be imposed. It will create a doubt in all areas of the city," said Rongey. "The businesses along San Mateo Avenue now are suffering from the jitters of Tanforan competition."

Rongey felt that if these "jitters" manifested themselves, the CBD zoning is liable to be put anywhere.

Medical Group Wins Relief

The Golden Gate Medical Group of Eureka Square won relief from paying a 40 per cent penalty on an overdue business license fee Monday night after its representative explained that no billing was received until November 3.

Pacifica City Councilmen were told the medical group has been licensed in the past, but that no record was in the municipal files.

As a result, the firm was told to pay first a 30 per cent, then a 40 per cent penalty on a business license fee it was to be billed for in August, but didn't get until last month.

Letters to members of the medical group were not postmarked until October 31, it was pointed out.

The group's representative said he had "no idea we were supposed to know" when the business licenses were due.

He said it was their custom to pay when billed — and, in fact, the fee, though not the penalty sum, was paid soon after notification.

One councilmen, as well as the city attorney, pointed out that publication of the ordinance legally was sufficient as notification, however, the group's spokesman asserted he "doesn't routinely" read any newspaper.

He said the group just didn't know it owed any fee, and had no objections to paying one, and, indeed, had done so in the past.

The council agreed that any other persons in a similar predicament should be "invited" to appear before it to discuss the situation.

It was emphasized, however, that the sole reason for negating the penalty in this case was that the group had been licensed previously and was not properly notified as a result of a city error.

The decision, councilmen warned, does not mean wholesale abolition of penalties can be expected.

Councilman W. Rick Wallis voted "no." He had asked of the doctor, "Isn't it your responsibility to pay your business license?"

The doctor reiterated that he wasn't accustomed to remembering it.

The council later noted that it is up to new businesses coming into the city to apply for licenses.

"Rules we make must be bent sometimes," Mayor Gust said.

Thief Pries Open Doors In San Mateo

An industrious thief with a yesterday by San Mateo police after he pried open several doors and made off with various commercial and indestrial equipment.

Police indicated they suspect the same operator is involved in at least two breaks, both committed over the weekend. In each case, pry tools were used to break open door catches and locks.

The owner of Carney Refrigeration Company at 1031 North Bayshore Boulevard, San Mateo, said his place of business had been entered over the weekend after his front door was pried.

Missing were a small portable welding torch valued at $160 and a six dollar roll of postage stamps.

Earlier, police were called to the Springer Printing Company at 1027 Howard, a few doors away, where the owner reported both a front and rear door forced, desks rifled and pry tools used to force open both cabinet drawers and a cash drawer—although all were unlocked.

Taken were $45 from the cash box, another $35 hidden in the printing room, seventeen rolls of six cent stamps, each valued at $30 a roll, for a total theft of $590.

Since nothing else was disturbed, police suspected the thief had some prior knowledge of where things were kept.

At 902 South Bayshore Boulevard, the Sandicraft Upholstery Company owner also found his door open, with the striker plate and latch pried loose and on the floor, when he opened for business yesterday. Missing were a $75 check machine and a $40 airgun stripping tool with a desk rifled.

Othere San Mateo burglaries or entries included a rear door forced at a residence at 738 Costa Rica, sometime between 10:20 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. yesterday, with the moulding latch and striker plate split. Glass in a fixed laundry room window also had been broken. Nothing appeared to be missing.

Multi-Race Experience Offered

A repeat performance of "The Human Touch," a multi-ethnic school district, will be staged tonight at 7:30 p.m., at St. An- experience presented by the intergroup education department of the San Mateo elementary drew's Lutheran Church, El Camino Real and Fifteenth Avenue.

The program, sponsored by the Conference on Religion, Race and Social Concern, features multi-racial expressions of music, dance, poetry, prose and history.

Department To Be Real

The 12-year-old Pacifica Parks, Beach and Recreation Department moved toward formal being today.

City Councilmen Monday night introduced an ordinance creating the department after a consulting attorney, attempting to codify the city's ordinances, found the body had never been constituted legally.

Essentially, the law, when finally approved, will become the official policy statement on recreation by the city.

The new municipal law will not provide for official voting power of its two teen-age members.

But, it will allow — though perhaps not specifically mentioned — for the young people to enjoy all the other "privileges" of full membership, as Councilwoman Grace McCarthy put it.

The consulting attorney recommended the council take steps to officially create the department, tardy though it may be.

Narcotics Charge Set

A narcotics charge was added to that of possession of stolen property when San Bruno police followed up on a Burlingame police lead last week.

Detectives Hugh Fraser and Jack Gibson arrested Joel Ross Jensen, 25 Tanforan Avenue, San Bruno, at the barber shop where he works, 699 San Mateo Avenue.

The detectives received a call from Burlingame police saying they had reason to believe a television set taken during a Burlingame beauty shop burglary may be in Jensen's possession.

Fraser and Gibson went to the suspect's home. They were invited in by the wife, who permitted them to check a television set in the home, and to also search the garage.

Police said they found a television set that appeared to be the same missing set, plus what appeared to be marijuana in an ashtray beside the set.

Join the Covered BARBECUE Bandwagon . . .

. . . with a Weber, of course

The distinctive "kettle shape" tells you it's a WEBER covered barbecue. You improve flavor and tenderness of barbecued dishes 100% with a Weber. Natural juices and flavor are cooked in, not out.

WEBER kettles are built to last, can never burn or rust out. Handsome porcelain enamel finish is easily wiped clean. It's completely weatherproof. Unique Weber design uses separate grilles for charcoal and food.

Adjustable dampers let you control heat. You slowly broil meats, fowl and fish rather than char them. Cooking is done by timing rather than watching, just like your inside oven. To top it all off you'll save so much charcoal, in a season or two your WEBER will pay for itself. Weber kettles are available in variety of sizes and bright colors.

NELL NORTON

(Sugar 'n Spice)

Good morning, good cooks.

Christmas caring and sharing seems to be best expressed in gifts that we make ourselves. Whether we have spent the time stitching and sewing or mixing and baking, the fact that we made the gift ourselves makes the gift much appreciated.

This introduction is leading to this year's Christmas cookie recipes. I have some new cookies to share with you as well as some of the old favorites that mean "Christmas" to me.

This recipe is for a cookie that uses a cake mix as it's base. It's quite easy to make and cream cheese give the cookies a deliciously different taste.

RAISIN CREAM CHEESE GEMS

¼ cup butter
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 package (1 pound 3 ounces) yellow cake mix
1¼ cups seedless raisins
½ cup shredded coconut
½ cup chopped walnuts

Beat together the fourth cup butter, eight ounces cream cheese, egg yolk and the teaspoon vanilla. Blend in the package of dry cake mix, one-third at a time, mixing the last portion by hand. Mix in the one and one-fourth cup raisins, half cup each coconut and chopped walnuts.

Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto greased cookie sheets. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven about 15 minutes, until lightly browned. Makes about 5 dozen cookies.

☆ ☆ ☆

THIS ONE is for a cookie that I make each Christmas. And each Christmas it receives raves. Rich and short with almonds adding their flavor and texture, it is a cookie you good cooks will serve with pride.

ALMOND CRESCENTS

½ pound butter
1 cup powdered sugar
2 egg yolks
1 cup chopped almonds
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups flour

Cream the half-pound butter. Add the cup ofpow dered sugar and cream again. Beat the two egg yolks, add to the creamed mixture. Mix well. Add the cup of chopped almonds and the teaspoon vanilla. Gradually add the three cups sifted flour. (When you get to adding the last cup you may find it is easier to mix by hand. It's easier on our electric mixer if you do, for the dough becomes very stiff.)

Roll the dough into 1½-inch rolls. Cut three-fourth inch slices and shape into crescents. Place on lightly greased cookie sheet and bake in 375-degree oven about 10 minutes. Keep an eye on the baking, you don't want to brown. While still hot roll in powdered sugar.

IN THE TWO PREVIOUS RECIPES you've used just egg yolks. So now you have three whites. What to do with them? Why not add one more white and make some of the marvelous forgotten meringues? The added attraction for these cookies is that they bake while you sleep, you just put them in the oven and forget them overnight. And the children love them.

FORGOTTEN MERINGUES

4 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cream of tarter
1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 large package chocolate bits

Heat the oven to 400-degrees. Beat the egg whites until foamy and add the one-fourth teaspoon each salt and cream of tarter. Beat until stiff and add the sugar, one tablespoon at a time, beating as you add. The whites will be very stiff. Fold in the vanilla and chocolate bits.

Drop from teaspoon onto heavy brown paper (paper bags, cut open work fine), lay on oven racks. (NOTE: Remove racks from oven before you heat it). Place cookies in oven, close door, turn off oven. Important—don't peek! Let stand overnight. Makes about 72 cookies.

☆ ☆ ☆

RECENTLY A READER called for a cookie for Christmas baking that made a large quantity and that children would like. The faithful Hermit fits this category to a T.

HERMITS

1½ cups brown sugar
1 cup shortening
3 eggs, well beaten
2½ cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 cup nuts, chopped
1 cup currants
1 cup raisins

In a large mixing bowl cream the one and one-half cups brown sugar with the cup of shortening. Add the three well-beaten eggs and cream again. Sift together the two and one-half cups flour with the teaspoon soda, half teaspoon salt and two teaspoons cinnamon. Add to the creamed mixture gradually, mixing well after each addition. Stir in the cup each of nuts, currants and raisnis.

Drop by heaping teaspoonfuls onto greased cookie sheet.

Auxiliary Appeals For Coupons

Mrs. Agnes Laurence, community service chairman of San Bruno Unit 409, American Legion Auxiliary, is again sending out an appeal for Betty Crocker coupons for St. Benedicts Center for deaf and hard of hearing, at 2891 Bush Street, in San Francisco. St. Benedicts maintains a school for deaf and hard of hearing children, regardless of race or creed.

Betty Crocker once again has offered an opportunity to earn more bonus coupons. Twenty-five bonus coupons for each box bottom from any of the following products: Snacks, Hotchas and Daisy's (cereals) (Kaboom and Totals) (Top and Bottom). This offer expires December 31.

A picture means more than 1,000 words to the deaf and hard of hearing, so a movie camera is the answer, and a typewriter is in great demand. Both of these items will be obtained from Betty Crocker coupons and the "Silent Community" continues to offer their thanks to all. St. Benedict Center for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing. Send the coupons to Mrs. Agnes Laurence, 471 Taylor, San Bruno, California 94066, Apartment 6.

EVERY ASSORTMENT of Christmas cookies should have some type of chocolate cookie shouldn't it? This new recipe using rolled oats is most delicious, it made a great hit in my family.

COCOA CHEWS

1 cup sugar
one-third cup shortening, soft
1 egg
two thirds cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon soda
one-third cup cocoa
½ teaspoon salt
one-third cup milk
2 cups quick rolled oats, uncooked
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat together the one cup sugar and one-third cup shortening until creamy. Blend in the egg. Sift together the two-thirds cup flour, one-third cup cocoa and one-half teaspoon each soda and salt. Add half of the flour mixture to the creamed mixture; mix well. Add the one-third cup milk and beat thoroughly. Add remaining flour mixture and blend thoroughly. Stir in the two cups oats and teaspoon vanilla. Refrigerate for about one hour.

☆ ☆ ☆

LET'S SEE, NOW—we have all sorts of cookies . . . except bar cookies. Here's one that fills that requirement nicely with gum drops adding color and flavor, too.

GUMDROP COOKIES

2 cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
3 eggs, beaten
2 cups brown sugar
¼ cup evaporated milk
½ cup soft small gumdrops, cut in half (no licorice)
½ cup nuts, chopped

Sift together the two cups flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon. In a mixing bowl blend the three beaten eggs, two cups brown sugar and one-fourth cup evaporated milk and then beat well. Add the sifted dry ingredients and mix well. Fold in the half cup each gumdrops and nuts and pour into a 9x9-inch greased and floured pan. Bake in 325-degree oven about 35 minutes or until cake springs back when pressed lightly in center.

DEAR ME, I'm running out of space and I still have more recipies to share. Next week I'll finish the cookie recipies and offer some other Christmas gift ideas.

Chief Greer Is Honored

The Pacifica City Council paid tribute, in resolution form, to retiring fire chief Ed Greer Monday night.

To be "appropriately" prepared and framed, the formal municipal commendation of the veteran firefighter cites his "high level of personal courage" and his "many years of devoted service" to the city.

Greer, who will be leaving the area after his January 1 disability retirement, has been the Pacifica Fire Department's only chief, who has seen it grow from one to three stations and from six to 25 firemen.

Accused Tells His Story

The defendant said he found Mrs. Pedersen on her knees beside a bed with Galindo beating her on the head with the shears. Her 92-year-old husband was lying in the bed, moaning, with multiple head wounds from which he died within a few hours. Lopez said he grabbed Galindo's arm as he swung to strike another blow and pushed him away — "twice."

"Then I picked her (Mrs. Pedersen) up," the defendant continued, "and told her I didn't want to come in the first place. She told me she would pray for me and stuff like that."

A neighbor finally became suspicious and called police. The desperadoes were captured under the Pedersen house, wearing Pedersen's clothing.

Galindo was called as a defense witness yesterday but he exercised his constitutional right to remain silent.

"I don't want to talk," he told Judge Rouse.

Dr. Wealtr Rapaport, a psychiatrist who examined Galindo shortly after his arrest, said the prisoner told him that he went into the Pedersen house alone and beat Mr. and Mrs. Pedersen.

"He told me Mr. Lopez took no part in any violent acts that occurred in the home," the witness told the jury.

Pacifica Police Officer Richard Hillman said that when Galindo was first interviewed after his capture he blamed the beatings on Lopez. A while later, however, on the ride from Pacifica to county jail in Redwood City, Galindo changed his story and said it was he who was responsible, Hillman said.

Intersection Will Gain Traffic Lights

Traffic signals will be installed at the Avalon Drive-Junipero Serra intersection in South San Francisco, eliminating the left turn onto Junipero Serra from Avalon Drive.

Acting Police Chief August Terragno Monday during the 4:30 p.m. pre-council session advised the councilmen that the state would install the signals and pay for the entire project.

Drivers will have to turn right onto Junipero Serra and travel north to Westborough Boulevard before being able to go south on Junipero Serra.

The inconvenience, according to Chief Terragno, will last only until July. He said the signals, and construction of a barrier to prevent left hand turns, is necessary because of state roadwork.

As it now stands, traffic is all but unable to merge into southbound Junipero Serra traffic from Avalon Drive. "The last bad injury accident we had was caused by a left turn movement at this intersection," said the chief.

El Camino Co-ed Award Winner

Sue Sampel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Sampel, was chosen recently by her classmates and a faculty committee from El Camino High School, as the recipient of the Daughters of the American Revolution's Good Citizens' Award for a marked degree: dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.

Sue is also eligible to receive a Good Citizen pin from the Daughters of the American Reovlution Chapter sponsoring the school.
